New War Chief for Britain?

Appointment of Lieut.-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the 1st Canadian Army in England, to succeed Winston Churchill as Britain's Minister of Defence is being proposed in London to meet the storm of criticism against the Churchill government as a result of the fall of Tobruk and the advance of the Germans into Egypt. Churchill would remain as Prime Minister but yield supreme military direction to the Canadian. McNaughton has just sent Army Week greetings from the Canadian army overseas to soldiers in Canada.

For War Financing

Voluntary Saving Still Essential

"Finance Minister Ilsley's budget places every Canadian on a definite wartime basis and this is what a large majority of Canadians have been asking for some time," said J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Vancouver Island War Finance Committee today.

"The schedule of taxation and refundable taxes represent only a part of what each individual should contribute to Canada's war effort—in fact the schedule set should be considered a minimum and I feel that all loyal Canadians will recognize that until all of us are saving—both by taxation and voluntary means, the maximum amount, we are not doing enough.

"The new taxes will not raise enough money to meet our liabilities of war. We must still raise $2,250,000,000 this year by voluntary measures—and this is the responsibility of every patriotic Canadian citizen.

"I feel there are certain 'musts' for each of us. We must win this war; cut our purchases of nonessentials to the bone; we must practice thrift in every phase of everyday living; we must not only continue to purchase war savings stamps and certificates we must also increase our purchases; and we must buy Victory Bonds to the full extent of our investing ability.

Replies to St. Laurent

Drew Calls Coming Trial Freedom Fight

TORONTO (CP)—Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, has issued the following statement on the charge laid against him Wednesday under the Defence of Canada Regulations for his comment on the Hongkong commission's report:

"I hope this will make Canadians realize that we have a fight for freedom on our hands right here at home. I have too much faith in my own people to believe they will be fooled for a minute. They know that I have done everything within my power from the day war broke out to encourage recruiting and stimulate our war effort. Now this charge is laid under instructions of the same Hon. Louis St. Laurent who last week explained and defended the attitude of the province of Quebec in these words: 'French-speaking Canadians have no sentimental attachment for the government of the British Isles or for British imperialism.'

"He also denied the very principle under which we dispatched our expeditionary force when he said: 'It may be great and glorious to fight and die for the world's salvation of the United Nations, for the salvation of democracy and Christian civilization; but that is a privilege of each man, a privilege he has the right to choose for himself. It is not a duty which citizenship imposes as an obligation relative to the rights which citizenship guarantees as a privilege.'

"And he reduced loyalty to its lowest possible terms when he made this statement: 'Our loyalty cannot be expected to be one of traditional affection and sentiment but it is one based almost solely on a utilitarian viewpoint.'

"No more harmful speech has been made in Canada since the beginning of the war than that of Mr. St. Laurent. And yet this is the man who charges me with making a statement prejudicial to recruiting. The facts will speak for themselves."

Air Minister Reports

Canada Sends Fighters, Bombers To Guard Alaska

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has sent "several" fighter and bomber squadrons to the Alaskan area to help hold off the Japanese but there can be no disclosure yet as to whether they have seen action against the enemy, Air Minister Power announced today.

In addition to these squadrons in Alaska, Canada's own Pacific defences have been "considerably" reinforced, Maj. Power said. Additional squadrons had been moved into strategic positions and new squadrons had been organized on the spot.

The Canadians in Alaska, operating from bases provided by the United States army, are working under United States operational control, but there is a "completely unified command" all along the coast and Canadian officials are constantly communicating with American authorities.

"For security reasons it is not yet possible to disclose whether our squadrons have yet engaged the Japanese in actual combat," the minister said in a statement.

"But our men and our aircraft are there, assuming their full share of the task of thwarting Japanese encroachment in the Aleutians and Alaska."

Announcement that some Canadian airmen had gone to the Aleutians theatre was made some days ago at the coast by Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of general staff and temporary commanding officer in charge of Pacific coast defences.

FIRST DISCLOSURE

Gen. Stuart did not give any indication of the R.C.A.F. strength in the Aleutians and Maj. Power's statement today was the first disclosure that several complete units were in Alaska.

The Canadian squadrons—both fighter and bomber—are operating from Alaskan bases "in the closest harmony and co-operation with their United States comrades," Maj. Power said.

The Canadian squadrons have been provided with bases and accommodation by the United States army.

"It is obviously essential that our units in Alaska are, for strategic reasons, under the operational control of the United States command but, of course, there is a completely unified command all along the Pacific coast and our general officer commanding the Pacific area (Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart) and our air officer commanding the western air command (Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson) are in consultation with the United States authorities," Maj. Power said.

(Both Gen. Stuart and Air Vice-Marshal Stevenson left Victoria by plane early this week for an announced destination.)

"So far as Alaskan operations are concerned there is a complete mingling of the R.C.A.F. and U.S. Forces. It is, in very fact, a United Nations force."

STRENGTHEN DEFENCES

"Not only have we sent squadrons into Alaska but we have been able considerably to reinforce our own Pacific air defences. Additional squadrons have been moved into strategic positions in the area and new squadrons have been organized on the spot.

"These squadrons, like those in Alaska, are manned largely by graduates of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and include sufficient officers who have had operational service overseas to assure wise and experienced leadership."

One of the senior officers of the R.C.A.F. command in Alaska is Wing Cmdr. G. R. McGregor of Montreal who recently returned from overseas where he was second-in-command of No. 1 R.C.A.F. fighter squadron during the Battle of Britain.

Sqdn. Ldr. E. Reyno of Sidney, B.C., is a third officer with long experience in Britain who is leading a unit in co-operation with the United States forces. He went overseas first in June, 1940.

Germans 60 Miles Into Egypt

Ritchie's 8th Army Falls Back Fighting Fierce Rearguard Action

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO (AP)—Powerful Axis tank forces thrust more than 60 miles into Egypt today, forcing the British 8th army to fall back under a covering fire, but R.A.F. and U.S. army fliers dealt the enemy a punishing blow with a second raid on the big supply base of Benghazi, 350 miles to the rear.

British army headquarters announced the 8th army had abandoned the frontier strongholds of Salm and Sidi Omar and that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's advance forces were southeast of Sidi Barrani, with British mobile units fighting a fierce rearguard action.

The R.A.F. disclosed the Germans and Italians in heavy strength were moving all day Wednesday to the south of Bir Sheferzen, which is 15 miles south of Sidi Omar and about 40 miles from the Mediterranean.

The enemy then swung north-eastward, being kept under continual and damaging attack by bombers and fighters of the R.A.F. and the South African air force.

Meanwhile the United States fliers in their four-motored Consolidated Liberator bombers teamed with R.A.F. pilots in Wellington bombers for the second time this week to launch a heavy overnight bombardment of Benghazi, principal entry port in Libya for Axis supplies.

Benghazi Shipping Target for Fliers

Air headquarters announced that shipping in the harbor was the objective as Rommel raced to make good his earlier Libyan losses in anticipation of a drive toward Cairo and Alexandria, now about 300 and 220 miles, respectively, away from his advanced elements.

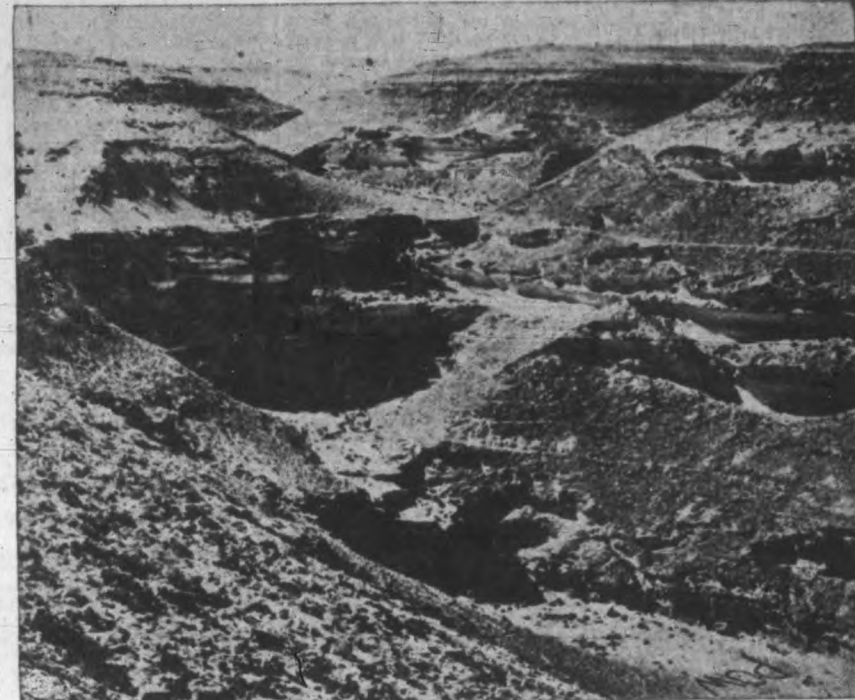

Although British headquarters reported its troops were fighting a fierce rearguard action and had inflicted heavy losses on the enemy, it appeared possible they intended to make their main stand somewhere before Matruh, vital railhead approximately 130 miles east of the Egyptian frontier.

Abandonment of Salm and Sidi Omar was announced in a terse British communiqué which gave only the barest outline of the swiftly-developing situation on which the fate of Egypt may well depend.

(The Germans and Italians claimed they had captured Sidi Barrani, but British authorities left this in question.)

(London experts expressed belief the British forces might fall still farther back to make their stand, since they must get out of striking distance of the enemy to complete regrouping and re-equipping necessitated by defeat in Libya.)

(These sources also suggested the Germans might seek to swing wide around the British southern flank in a sort of end-run for the U.S. Names European O.C.

Indications of 2nd Front From Washington, London

Associated Press.

From Washington and London today Associated Press and Canadian Press dispatches indicated long-awaited establishment of a second front was approaching visibly nearer.

In Washington the U.S. War Department announced appointment of Maj. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as commanding general of a European theatre of operations for U.S. forces, London simultaneously reporting his arrival.

40-MINUTE TALK

Also in Washington, Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt gave U.S. congressional leaders a 40-minute review of "the world situation," touching on the British setback in north Africa and the opening of a second front in Europe.

Russia came into the picture when the Soviet embassy in London twice mentioned the imminence of a second Allied front in Europe in articles in its publication, Soviet War News.

The London dispatch on Gen. Eisenhower said he had conferred with Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt Monday before leaving for Britain.

He was expected to start conferences soon with Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the British general staff, and other military chiefs on welding American and British armies for offensive action.

He had conferred with them in a previous visit to London which ended early this month.

Gen. Eisenhower has been in close contact with Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of the commandos. His headquarters will be in London.

Maj. Gen. James C. Chaney has been in command of American forces in the British Isles, and Washington officials did not disclose his new status. Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle remains in command of U.S. forces in northern Ireland.

Gen. Eisenhower, a native of Tyler, Tex., is 51, and has been a key member of the war department general staff for the last four months.

Known as an expert in armored force operations, he came to the war department in February as chief of the war plans division.

AT FRENCH PORTS

References to the second front

in the Soviet London Embassy publication, Soviet War News, were contained in two articles.

Praising Britain, one article said:

"The raids on the Ruhr and Cologne were mere preparation, of course. Soon smoke from the funnels of transports will drift toward the French shores. Already French children gaze hopefully across the misty sea, whispering 'What sort of ship is that on the horizon?' The name of that ship is 'second front!'"

Jap Dutch Harbor Attack Killed 35, Say Evacuees

By JIM HUTCHESON

SEATTLE (AP)—In the first dramatic report of what happened at Dutch Harbor, evacuees and seamen told on arrival of a transport here how the Japanese air attack at 5:45 a.m. June 3 caught civilians by surprise and how gallant gunners on their ship and shore laid a deadly screen of anti-aircraft fire about the raiding planes.

While U.S. army and navy men manned the anti-aircraft guns, some of the ship's crew snatched up rifles and blazed away at the dive bombers.

How many Jap planes were downed has not yet been announced officially, and the reports brought by the witnesses to the raids failed to clarify the point.

(The official navy announcement of the raid on the Dutch Harbor base reported four bombers and 15 fighter planes were in-

WHERE BOMBS AND AA SHELLS EXPLODED — A glimpse of the waterfront at Dutch Harbor.

involved in the raid early the morning of June 3, with an unreported number of planes returning six hours later for what apparently was a reconnaissance flight. The navy reported damage was not extensive, although some warehouses were set afire, and casualties were not great.)

Mayor John W. Fletcher of Unalaska (Dutch Harbor is on Unalaska Bay) said application was made for 35 death certificates after the day's bombing.

Service men aboard the ship were tight-lipped about what damage was done at the Dutch Harbor base, but several of them said

"the damage was light—considering."

"Considering what?" interviewers pressed a ruddy-faced army corporal.

"Considering that no matter how long you've been warned and have been expecting a raid, there's bound to be some surprise when they finally do come over in force," he replied. "No matter how much stuff you toss at them, some of them are bound to get through."

Declining to identify himself, he acted as spokesman for half a dozen walking wounded. The wounded men were included among the passenger list of 64 persons from Dutch Harbor and 34 from nearby Cold Bay. Seventeen women and 18 children evacuees were included.

Army Credited With 11 Planes

"It was hot stuff," continued the corporal. "We were credited with knocking down 11 of their planes. Personally, I didn't see any planes fall. How many the navy got, I don't know."

"But, you know, when you're doing a job you don't have time to watch around at what the fellow is doing. You must keep your eyes on what you're supposed to do, and do it, and you don't have time to get scared, just mad. They tried their best to get this ship."

Unalaska's Mayor Fletcher, on his way to confer with Indian authorities about the evacuation of natives "who were shaking like leaves" after the air attacks, said in a description of the scene:

"There was a violent attack in the harbor on this ship we came down on. It occurred before the passengers were aboard. The men at the guns put up a curtain of fire that was deadly. The dive bombers couldn't get in very close."

"The ship had docked in Dutch Harbor only the night before the first dawn bombing raid. She was taken out into the harbor after the bombing started. For all the alerts, she was rushed out from the docks where she could have manoeuvring space."

"The anti-aircraft fire that went up from the ship was really something to behold."

U.S. Task Force Near Islands

"We had heard that a sizeable task force was in the Pacific off the Aleutians, but the recollection I have most vividly of the bombing was the surprising suddenness with which it came."

"I don't think they expected to run into the hot fire from anti-aircraft guns that greeted them."

Fletcher estimated the raid lasted 30 to 40 minutes. He said the bombs "just seemed to float down slowly."

Mayor Fletcher operated a Unalaska motion picture theatre, which he has locked up to insure against any crowds being caught there.

"We used to think a dive bombing picture was a great thriller," he observed, "but never again. I never want to see another bombing plane picture."

Chinese Forces Advance 12 Miles, Widen Rail Gap

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese forces have pushed the Japanese back 12 miles from recaptured Kweiki, widening the gap between eastward and westward driving enemy columns on the important Chekiang-Kiangsi railway from 50 miles to more than 60 miles, an army spokesman announced today.

The Chinese thus tightened their grasp on the segment which keeps the Japanese from joining forces to turn the railroad into an important supply line in eastern China.

This success came as aircraft—the deficiency the Chinese have felt most acutely against the well-supplied foe—were disclosed to have gone into action against the invaders for the first time in the current east China fighting.

The air action included two operations by the American Volunteer Group, backing up the ground forces with both fighter and bomber forays.

JAPS STALLED
Recapture of Kweiki, the most advanced point of the western claw of the invaders' pincer, was announced Wednesday night. Late reports said the eastern claw still was stalled three miles west of Shanghai, which the Japanese captured June 16.

A new enemy thrust in Chekiang province, however, was said to have pushed within six miles of Lishui, which the Chinese regard as their best remaining air base from which to bomb Japan.

Big Losses Slow Up Nazi Crimea Attack

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The German offensive against Sevastopol is slackening somewhat, because of the great losses suffered by the attackers, Russian dispatches said today, but the battle still is violent against the outnumbered garrison of the Crimean port.

Already, in the 21-day assault, six German and Rumanian divisions have been defeated, three others have suffered staggering losses, and 150 Nazi tanks and hundreds of planes have been destroyed, said the Russian accounts.

The defeated divisions were listed as the German 22nd, 50th, 132nd and 72nd, and the Rumanian 1st and 18th; those suffering great losses were named as the German 24th and 17th and the Rumanian 4th.

"In the last few days the Germans have weakened a little in their attacks on our positions as a result of immense losses," said the army paper Red Star, "but they still are superior in number, thus permitting them to carry on violent battles in a number of sectors."

STILL OUTNUMBERED

Dispatches from the beleaguered port said the Germans had penetrated into fortifications at the north and south of the city, but said the Russian army and naval infantry still held the inner defenses.

The intensity of the fire the Germans have directed on Sevastopol for 21 days was described as surpassing anything so far in the war.

In addition to dropping more than 1,000 bombs a day on the city, the Germans have been shelling it steadily with the heaviest of artillery.

Among the heavy artillery trained on the city, Russian dispatches said, was "a 615-millimetre weapon never before used."

(This would be a 24-inch gun, far larger than any artillery rifle or howitzer known. Such a weapon might be a mortar, used for hurling large mines.)

A Russian Black Sea warship was reported to have entered Sevastopol bay with supplies and reinforcements and taken away

the wounded after turning its own heavy guns for two hours on the nearest German positions. While the Russians held doggedly on at Sevastopol, there was a developing struggle for the Donets and Oskol basin southeast of Kharkov in the Ukraine.

A communique which told of overnight operations on the Kharkov front, where the Germans have been attacking since June 22, said only that "our troops fought against the enemy," but gave no details of the course of the battle.

OTHER FRONTS STATIC

The war bulletin added that "on other sectors of the front no substantial changes took place." It declared the defenders of Sevastopol were "displaying unparalleled heroism" and were waging a "self-sacrificing struggle against superior forces."

Sustained pressure against the Red army lines in the Donets basin area before Kharkov cost Field Marshal Eedor von Bock "great losses in men and material" Wednesday, the Soviet Information Bureau said, and tank-supported infantry thrusts in one sector were repelled.

A general midnight summary of the combat in that theatre, however, was confined to the statement "our troops fought engagements with attacking enemy forces."

On the corpse-littered Sevastopol front, where cordite fumes vied with the aroma of blooming lilacs, Soviet gunners again "repulsed attacks of the enemy."

LANDING IN REAR

LONDON (CP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today that two regiments of Soviet troops had been landed in southern Crimea by a strongly escorted convoy from Caucasus ports.

In spite of violent fire from German coastal artillery, the dispatch said, the Russian detachments not only succeeded in landing but advanced at some points, getting behind positions of the Germans attacking Sevastopol.

The BBC reported earlier receipt of unconfirmed reports of a Russian swoop on the southern coast of Crimea.

F.D.R., Churchill Speak

World Situation Report Cheers U.S. Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt gave United States congressional leaders today a 40-minute review of "the world situation," touching on the British defeat in North Africa and the opening of a second front in Europe, and the legislators called the survey "very satisfactory and very encouraging."

Speaker Sam Rayburn told reporters the Libyan phase of the war was covered "in some detail," and that a second front was mentioned "incidentally." That subject, he added, "always comes up, of course."

SAYS EGYPT SAFE

Representative Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, told reporters that Mr. Churchill "indicated that Britain would hold, and that there is no danger of losing Egypt and the Suez."

Mr. Churchill's meeting with leaders from both the Republican and Democratic ranks started off a round of conferences which set the day apart as one of the most important since the Prime Minister flew the Atlantic a week ago to confer with the President—a second time.

The President and Prime Minister followed up the congressional conference with an appointment with the Pacific War Council.

None of the legislative leaders would go into details of the conversations with the two United Nations leaders.

The opening of a second battle front in Europe has been a subject of widespread speculation, which has received official encouragement at the White House, in connection with the Churchill visit. The congressional leaders did not disclose whether any concrete decisions had been reached on this point.

But it was regarded as significant that a war department announcement today disclosed a European theatre of operations for United States forces had been established formally under the command of Maj.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, formerly assistant chief of the staff of the army.

The announcement thus coincided with the Churchill visit and, more closely, with the conferences in progress here today.

As the principle spokesman for the congressional group, Rayburn asserted as he left the front portico of the White House:

"Well, it was a review of the world situation by the President and Prime Minister. And it was made in a fashion that was very pleasing to all of us."

"It gave us information that of course we couldn't have had before, a great deal of it of a military nature. It will be the President's business to make any announcement of specific subjects discussed."

"I, and it is safe to assume the others, came away from the meeting feeling very hopeful and very good."

House Republican Leader Joseph Martin described the session as a "very interesting recital of the war situation as they (Roosevelt and Churchill) saw it to date, and it was encouraging."

Chairman Sol Bloom (Dem.-N.Y.) of the House Foreign Affairs committee labeled the conference "very enlightening" and said he was "very much encouraged."

MR. KING ATTENDS

The ranks of the War Council which includes representatives of eight nations engaged in warfare in the Pacific, were augmented today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King's arrival.

The War Council was invited to the White House not only for a formal discussion apparently designed to help integrate Pacific operations with those in Europe but also to an informal luncheon. State Secretary Cordell Hull and Under-Secretary Sumner Welles, were also on the luncheon list.

Afterward, the President and Mr. Churchill held a separate parley with Secretary Hull and the British ambassador, Lord Halifax.

On Mr. Churchill's personal agenda were appointments with the Indian agent-general in this country, Sir Girja Shankar Bajpai, and Ralph W. Close, South African minister to the United States.

SAFeway Homemakers' Guide

★ How to get sure-fire canning results ★ Guaranteed fresh produce to "put up" ★ An easy way to find time to play

Don't risk spoilage this year in your Home Canning

Read and remember these precautionary suggestions that come from the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau.

To avoid the danger of spoilage that botulism bacteria brings, pressure cooking is the only really safe method of processing meat, fish, poultry, and all vegetables except tomatoes. Pressure cooking maintains the above-boiling temperature required for sterilization.

Tomatoes and fruits, because they are acid, don't favor growth of botulism bacteria, so you may can fruits and tomatoes by any reliable method that's convenient. Sterilization of jars, lids, and rubbers is always important. Examine them before you begin, and discard any that are nicked and cracked or loose fitting.

Wash jars (and old lids, if reusable) in hot soap suds; rinse well; cover with warm water in a large kettle or dish pan, and boil 15 min. to sterilize. A clean dish towel on the bottom of the pan guards against breakage. Let jars stand in hot water 'til ready to use.

Sterilize new tops or lids by placing in pan and covering with boiling water. Always use new rubbers; sterilize in boiling water.

No matter what method of canning you use—(open kettle, hot or cold pack), or what means of processing (water bath, steam cooker or pressure cooker)—follow specific directions.

Gallup Poll

Democrats Would Win If Elections Held Today

PRINCETON, N. J.—If the Republicans are going to win control of Congress this November, as they did in the wartime election of 1918, they have an uphill road ahead.

Even allowing for a low turnout of voters which has been amply evidenced in recent elections, a fact which works to the advantage of the Republicans, they would still do no better than they did in 1940 if a Congressional election were held at this time. In fact, the evidence as of today indicates that the Democrats would actually gain some seats.

The line-up in the House, as estimated by the American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) on the basis of its latest nationwide poll on political sentiment completed this week, would be as follows if an election were held today:

1940 If Election	1940 If Election
Dem. Seats	203
Rep. Seats	162
Other Party	5

It must be borne in mind, however, that the political situation today is colored by favorable news. At the present time the public is highly satisfied with war production, and cheered by naval and air victories in the Pacific. If such a combination of good news does not exist in November, the Democrats may suffer politically, just as military reverses from time to time increased opposition sentiment in England.

G.O.P. LACKS ISSUE

Up to the present time the Republicans have failed to find an issue with sufficient appeal to win a sizable part of the independent vote—that bloc of approximately 10,000,000 voters who hold the balance of political power in the United States today.

Lacking such an issue today, the Republicans' best hope lies in the fact that voters this year are taking considerably less interest in elections than at any time in recent years. That is shown by the low turnout in all the primary elections to date.

When turnout is low the Republicans generally benefit. More Republicans than Democrats customarily take the trouble to vote. Since last November, in six special elections held to fill House vacancies, the average turnout has been less than 40 per cent of the turnout on regular election days. Republicans made substantial gains in three out of the six elections.

The primaries held thus far tell the same story of low voter turnout. In the three largest states which have held their primaries so far, participation was about 30 per cent below that of the comparable 1938 mid-term primary voting.

GAINS IN MID-WEST

The Democrats would show the greatest gains in an election in the east central section as a whole, composed of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. There the party would show an estimated increase of 13 seats over 1940.

The Democrats would make the poorest showing in the New England and middle Atlantic states where, according to today's estimate, they would lose a total of seven seats.

The total net gain for the Democrats throughout the country would be 10 seats. Not all of this gain would come about as a result of shifts from the G.O.P. Indications are that at least three

Commons Debate

Jap West Coast Threat

OTTAWA (CP)—Postmaster General Mulock said in the House of Commons Wednesday that if the Japanese have further successes in the Pacific they may make a landing in force on the upper west coast of America and prepare for a drive southwards.

The minister, participating in the debate on the government bill to permit conscription for overseas service by order-in-council, said Japanese attacks on the Aleutian Islands might be more dangerous than many believed.

He believed there would be more than sporadic raids on the west coast as the Japanese had been preparing for many years, and would be unlikely to wait until Canada and the United States reach their maximum power.

MUST BE STOPPED

Japanese attacks must be stopped before they reach Canadian territory, but those who opposed the government bill would seek to prevent troops called under the National Resources Mobilization Act from fighting alongside American troops in the defence of North America.

He did not advocate the sending of troops overseas to the extent Canadian coastlines would be undefended, but Canada would be in a very difficult position if it had to defend itself with the forces to be raised from a population of 11,500,000 without help from other United Nations.

Canada must be willing to assist the United States in order to receive help in return. Britain stood between Germany and world domination. If Germany won the war she would probably reward army heroes with properties and farms in Canada.

Col. Mulock said that in fighting for freedom with the United Nations, Canadians were fighting for themselves and Canada's existence. The right for the government to impose conscription for overseas was necessary for the protection of Canada and for the protection of volunteers overseas.

NO DOMINATION

Capt. G. S. White, Conservative, Hastings-Peterborough, Ont., said that if Quebec members opposing the bill persisted in their course they would create a legacy of hate, and today were sowing the seeds of bloodshed and revolution in Canada. He said the other eight provinces were no longer to be dominated by Quebec.

Capt. White said his riding had believed that when it voted "yes" in the manpower plebiscite it had voted for conscription for overseas service.

Compulsory service anywhere in the world was being imposed on Americans.

Will any member from the province of Quebec attempt to argue that that law was passed to aid Great Britain in an imperialistic war? Capt. White asked.

If the enemy were not defeated overseas, atrocities like those at Hongkong would be inflicted on Canadian prisoners and Canadian women in Canada.

Capt. White said he would be interested in hearing of one instance in which it could be shown that the French-speaking citizens of Quebec are discriminated against.

WOULD CURB SPEAKERS

Philippe Picard, Liberal, Bellechasse, Que., said if Quebec was running the country it was obtaining very poor results. If Quebec were to be assisted in the struggle for unity, there should be the means by which "we can curb the speeches of these people who try to do in Quebec what the honorable gentleman did this afternoon here."

Mr. Picard said good will to Quebec should be shown by more than words and appeals to loyalty. French-Canadians should have their share of the public appointments.

"Give us our share and we shall be in a position to silence the nationalists and extremists in Quebec," he said.

"His people felt 'disgust' at the prejudice against French-Canadians shown by 'a caste of narrow-minded people in other parts of Canada.'"

He opposed the bill.

Elphège Marier, Liberal, Mont-real-Jacques Cartier, and J. Alphonse Poirier, Liberal, Bonaventure, Que., also opposed the measure.

'Political Adornment' Ignored by Ilsey

OTTAWA (CP)—Once during his budget address Finance Minister Ilsey referred to the suggestion of maximum and minimum incomes.

He explained the new income tax rates reached a maximum of 36 per cent for married persons and 38 per cent for single persons in the highest income brackets.

The minister admitted there might be "some political allurements" in establishing a maximum income by legislation, but added: "I can only say there have been too many difficult and far-reaching decisions to be made in framing this budget for me to give any consideration to its political adornment."

Enlistments In Quebec 74,415

OTTAWA (CP)—Enlistments in the province of Quebec since the war began total 74,415, of whom 36,235 are considered to be French-Canadians, it was reported in a reply tabled in the House of Commons Wednesday for G. H. Stokes, Conservative, Hastings South, Ont.

Records of the armed forces do not segregate French Canadians, the reply said. The estimate was reached by taking into consideration names and language spoken.

Britain to Send More Air Recruits

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Kingdom will supply 40 per cent of the air crew recruits to be trained in Canada under the new British Commonwealth Air Training Plan agreement.

That will leave 60 per cent of the recruits to be supplied by Canada, Australia and New Zealand, the other nations participating in the agreement.

Under the original agreement of 1939, to be replaced by the new one as of July 1, Canada provided 80 per cent of the trainees and the other three countries the remaining 20 per cent.

In addition to its contribution of recruits to the air training plan, however, the R.A.F. established a number of its own schools in Canada. Under the new agreement these schools retain their R.A.F. identity, but any further schools established in Canada will be R.C.A.F. schools.

LITTLE NEW BUILDING

In a statement summarizing the agreement when it was tabled in the House of Commons Wednesday afternoon, Air Minister Power said the expanded training program could be carried out without an extensive building program, but some shifting of schools would be necessary.

"There will be a considerable expansion in the number of aircrews to be trained under the new agreement," he said, "but the machinery, in terms of air dromes and major physical capacity, already has the potential capacity to meet this increase."

Some schools would be doubled in capacity. Some would move to new locations to give place to other schools, perhaps of a different type. Some such changes were now in progress.

MAINTAIN IDENTITY

The agreement contemplates further moves to maintain the Canadian identity of Canadian airmen serving overseas with the Royal Air Force, said the minister.

No Canadian fighter group is contemplated, but when further fighter stations are created in the United Kingdom they are to be Canadian stations, and in moving Canadian fighter squadrons they will, as far as possible, be assigned to Canadian stations, manned by Canadians and commanded by R.C.A.F. officers.

Arrangements for commissions for air crews in the old agreements are abolished and the new agreement provides that all pilots, observers, navigators and air bombers, considered suitable according to Canadian standards, will receive commissioned rank. The new agreement also makes it possible for an airman to apply for a commission. Hitherto the initiative had to be taken by his commanding officer, who would make a recommendation. Now they will be considered by a selection board.

McNaughton's Son Reported Missing

LONDON (CP)—R.C.A.F. headquarters today confirmed the report Sqdn. Ldr. Ian McNaughton, son of Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian army in Britain, is missing.

The 25-year-old aviator did not return from an operational flight June 22, it was stated.

Headquarters denied a report published by the London Daily Express which said Gen. McNaughton did not know his son was on operational duties. Air officials said the father knew this and considered it his son's business.

Sqdn. Ldr. McNaughton came overseas as a pilot officer in August, 1941, for navigational instruction and later applied for posting to active flying against the enemy.

After receiving training he was sent to an R.C.A.F. bomber squadron last October. He was promoted to the rank of flight lieutenant last February and posted to an R.A.F. squadron as a flight commander.

The missing aviator is one of Gen. McNaughton's five children. His two brothers are in uniform, Flt. Lt. Andrew McNaughton with R.C.A.F., and Capt. Edward McNaughton with the Royal Canadian Artillery. The general's daughters are Mrs. T. K. McDougall of Ottawa and Leslie McNaughton attending a convent school at Montreal.

Monkeys, are, in a limited fashion, able to think abstractly, an ability previously thought to be exclusively human, according to a University of Wisconsin professor.

Don't be the missing man.

'Satisfactory, Encouraging'

PERHAPS THE CONDITION obtaining on the various vital battlefronts
does not lend itself to much jubilant comment at the moment. The forces of General Auchinleck in the Libyan-Egyptian theatre have their work cut out to stem the new thrust of the enemy. The gallant Russians at Sevastopol and in the Kharkov area likewise are feeling the pressure of the Nazi Wehrmacht—albeit exacting a terrible toll of German and Rumanian soldiery and destroying masses of mechanized equipment. But from Washington today comes the announcement that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt have had a heart-to-heart talk with Congressional leaders about what is all-embracingly described as "the world situation." Recent events in North Africa and the opening of a second front evidently were among the chief items discussed—the latter "incidentally"—and the legislators called the survey "very satisfactory and very encouraging."

There will be no disposition to consider that description as anything in the nature of wishful thinking. We had been warned that the summer of 1942 would be a serious testing time for the peoples of the United Nations. We are now apprised of the truth of that confident prediction. It is nevertheless true that "the world situation" in all its aspects is immeasurably better than it was this time last year; and it bears practically no resemblance to the condition with which democracy and decency were confronted when Britain stood alone after the men of Bordeaux had surrendered France. Pearl Harbor, with its temporary setback and the tragic chain of events which so rapidly followed, changed the whole scene and drew the outline of a global campaign against the Axis triumvirate which nothing else could have done so effectively.

The job of filling in the details of that blueprint has progressed slowly but inexorably since last December 7. What disclosures Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt made to our neighbor's legislators naturally will remain a secret until a more concerted plan of action has been revealed by events.
It is no longer a secret, however, that the might of the United States is now rolling out of great industrial establishments on schedule and, in many instances, ahead of the program laid down by the President at the beginning of the year. It is this truth which has obliged Hitler and his Axis partners to strive with all the power they possess to gain new advantages before the American flow of equipment can be brought to bear on the fortunes of Democracy.

Nobody, of course, is assuming that great fleets of bombers will alone produce the victory of which all are certain. What is especially "satisfactory" and "encouraging,"
however, is the fact that the United States has made up her mind to concentrate on this type of machine, leaving Britain to produce the fighting planes that are necessary
to give full benefit to the weightier types.
This is part of the policy calculated to help redress the serious shortage of the ships which hitherto have conveyed the fighters to the European battlefronts. And, with his experience of Cologne and other 1,000-plane
R.A.F. visits to the Reich, it is small wonder that Hitler and his gang are bent on doing
as much destruction as possible as quickly as possible. The Fuehrer must realize how foolish he was to laugh at President Roosevelt's promise of 60,000 planes this year.

Now Lezaky

ALTHOUGH BUDAPEST IS STILL
regarded as one of the least reliable sources of information, London has received a report from that once romantic and colorful-Hungarian capital intimating that the Czech community of Lezaky, in Bohemia, has been razed by the Germans on the accusation that its villagers had hidden parachutists involved in the slaying of Butcher Reinhard Heydrich.

It is evident that the flimsiest excuse is sufficient for new outlets for Nazi vengeance. The blood-lust is inherent in Hitler's myrmidons, irrespective of rank, and until military defeat puts an end to their ghastly work the terror in Czechoslovakia and other parts of enslaved Europe no doubt will continue on the slightest pretext. Nothing in modern history has equaled Hitler's action against the little village of Lidice, where the Nazi type of annihilation and complete liquidation was applied to the limit. The Fuehrer may boast that the name of Lidice
has been obliterated forever; but he forgets that the decent world will remember it and other samples of the savagery of a madman
on whose hands the blood of millions of innocents has left an indelible stain.

But it is too late in the day to try to speculate on what a man of Hitler's fanatically-sadistic mentality, a man who aspires to fasten his philosophy on the wide world,
expects to reap as he plods his brutal way.
What can be hoped, however, is that when the final day of reckoning arrives the men of the United Nations will be able to deal with him whole and alive.

The faster we drive in these days of thinning tires, the easier it is for accidents to overtake us.

De Gaulle's Declaration

THOSE BRAVE SOULS IN FRANCE
who are fighting their fight against the Nazi tyranny in the only way left open to them—the underground way—are now in possession of the political aims of the Free French crusaders for whom General Charles de Gaulle speaks. It has taken the form of a declaration founded on the general principles of the Atlantic Charter and it is understood to have been approved, in the main, by leaders of the resistance movement
in the occupied regions—a triumph of secret negotiation which augurs well for the right kind of collaboration when the United Nations invade continental Europe.

There are five simple stipulations in the de Gaulle declaration. It provides for the election of a national assembly to decide the future of France and her empire; punishment of Nazi leaders and the end of their system as well as for the overthrow of the systematic coalition of private interests,
"which in France have acted in opposition to national interests"; the assurance of liberty and dignity in the work and life of every citizen; destruction of the "mechanical organization of mankind . . . in contempt of all religion"; and the restoration of the traditional French ideal of Liberty, Equality, Fraternity; and, finally, it would pledge the new France to the creation of "a world organization establishing lasting solidarity and mutual help between the nations of every sphere."

Not only do the foregoing fundamentals
of a new charter for a liberated France give a tyrannical people something to which to look forward and work for; the declaration
in itself establishes the status among the democratic coalition of the whole movement
under the leadership of General de Gaulle.
The reference to the "systematic coalition of private interests," moreover, strikes directly at that element which signified its eager willingness for peace at any price in the spring of 1940—the gang which numbers
the sycophants on whom Pierre Laval depends for support in his collaboration with the Reich. They are no doubt behind his
"I-desire-a-German-victory" declaration, because they are beginning to realize that the fate awaiting the present chief of government at Vichy also awaits them.

Drive In China

ONE OF THE GREAT WEAKNESSES
of the Japanese position in the southeast Pacific has lain in the vulnerability of long sea communications with the homeland. To overcome this, Japanese army operations in western China are directed to gaining control of the north-south railway system. Through the Chinese recapture of Kweilin this week, the Japanese have suffered a setback in their drive for the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway. Because of the importance of the control of this railway,
along with the Nanchang-Hangchow system,
the Japanese may be counted upon to intensify their operations in order to overcome any setback in that area.

If these railway systems as well as the highways through eastern China can be seized and held, the Japanese in Malaya and Indo-China will have direct communication overland with Korea and nothing but the narrow straits of Tashushima will separate them from the island empire itself. Thus their long lines of communication will be much more immune from effective attack
by the western powers.

Possibility that the Japanese may capture this railway system is a matter for deep concern for the United Nations. Not only would the Japanese thereby sever southeast China from the rest of the country, but in doing so would eliminate the possibility of our fliers using bases in that area for assaults on Japan. This might postpone for a considerable time the intensive bombing of Japan's industrial cities.

Another consideration is the possibility that once Japan cleaned up the Chinese
"incident," she would be so powerful on land
that attacks could be launched against Russia's Far Eastern armies and bases. If these attacks were successful, the nearest land bases for our bombing attacks on Tokyo, Yokohama and other cities of Japan would be Midway and the Aleutians. The former is 2,500 miles from Tokyo and the latter 2,800—prohibitive distances for effective raids.

Perhaps the reason was that Mr. Hanson, finding that he had to crowd his speech into the half hour that was left to him before the House rose, forgot about his prepared manuscript and memorized lines, and pitched into the job in hand with the first words that came to him.

Perhaps also there would be more good speeches in the House, more of the cut and dash of debate, if more members could be induced to forget their manuscripts, or, better still, to stop preparing them. For there is little more profoundly uninteresting
than a speaker reading from a manuscript,
and more often than not, reading if badly,
with stops in the wrong places. The matter may be excellent, the lines pointed and eloquent, but the whole thing is lost, becomes spiritless and colorless, in the reading.

Charles James Fox, one of the authentic British orators, said that if a speech read
well, it "must be a damned bad speech."
A lot of the speeches by M.P.'s that we read in Hansard seem to be good speeches, but when they are read in a monotone in the House they seem to be dreadful speeches.

We hope that Mr. Hanson's example, seeing that it produced such good results,
becomes contagious.

Bruce Hutchison

BAD, OF COURSE

THE news of the war, everyone is saying, is bad. It is like a hot day when everyone goes about saying it's hot, isn't it? Of course it's hot and of course, the war news is bad. Why should we expect anything else, or be surprised at it? The trouble with North America, as I ventured to report from Washington a short time ago, is that it has become intoxicated with a little success in sea battles, by a few raids over Germany,
and now suddenly is disillusioned.

After ascending into the clouds of an absurd optimism we sink now into the dark depths of a dangerous pessimism. If we had only faced a few facts long ago we would not be astonished at the present unhappy course of events, for they were obviously not merely to soldiers but to anyone who had a map and could add up a few figures. Everywhere, except in Russia, the enemy is stronger than we are, has more soldiers and more equipment—and the enemy is bound to make a supreme effort this year or bust. Therefore, bad news was not only to be expected, but was inevitable for us.

We all said that months ago, all said the news would be bad this summer, and the blows hard but, in the pleasant days of spring, we didn't really believe it or we would not be so amazed now. We should get it through our heads that the news is sure to be bad all summer and worse by autumn, but that if the United Nations are still in the ring and fighting by the year's end, the final outcome will be assured. It is going to be the worst summer and the most dangerous we have ever known. While 1940 was perhaps more desperate we were all mercifully punch-drunk then; now that we are aware of what the stakes are, we shall feel 1942 worse. So there is no use saying the news is bad or the weather hot.

CAMBLE

THE papers indicate that the British Columbia taxpayers' $500,000 oil well at Commotion Creek was only a long,
deep hole in the earth after all. So the government is going to move on to other triumphs and the taxpayer is going to have nothing for his half-million but the memory of a noble excitement when Mr. Pattullo started to bore.

This is all very sad, but it is not in the least surprising. We have never succeeded in British Columbia in any such enterprise.
When we went in for railway building we ended with the P.G.E. When we went in for farming we lost I forget how many millions at Sumas. When we went in for irrigation we lost more millions than one cares to remember in the South Okanagan.
When we went in for building roads, we spent about fifty millions, as I recollect the
across the province.

We have been the most prodigal child of Confederation. We have been the greatest gamblers in Canadian history. And the fact that we always lose never discourages us in the least. The only defeat in our method is that, after losing money, after taking the chance and failing, after buying chips in the game and finding that we have no cards in our hand, we quarrel with Canada because luck is against us.

For thirty years we have demanded Better Terms from Canada, insisted that we were the underprivileged infant of the nation and, at the same time, lived governmentally like a drunken sailor. Is it any wonder that the rest of Canada, hearing our complaints, is a little irritated when it hears also how we can afford to sink half a million dollars into a long, dark hole at Commotion Creek, at the very time when every possible
dollar is needed for the war?

Mr. Hart, they tell me, is one of the best poker players in Victoria, abler even than his good friend and mine, the lovable C. F.
Moriarty, whose skill is an ancient legend
among local parliamentarians; but while he likes a quiet game among friends, Mr. Hart is not a gambler in public affairs. His method, on the contrary, is to take no chances at all and it is this method which has evidently settled the Commotion Creek affair.

It is a method which does not make for great spectacles and is not as good for winning elections (since the public will always vote for something which will cost it a lot of money under the impression that someone else will pay) but it is a rather useful method in the end. So long as Mr. Hart remains on the job we may expect no great spectacles
and no large gambles.

CAMOUFLAGE

THE BLUE BOY from next door was telling me today that the rainy weather of this summer had destroyed more than the cherry crop. It has also pretty well finished his little second-hand sailboat, which has room
in it for him and about one other small passenger. When he painted it red and blue, the rain made the colors run together. When he added white the patriotic combination of red, white and blue, under the influence of rain, was enough to give you a bilious attack. So in the end, the owner tells me, he has simply rushed at the boat madly, brush
in hand, and created a new art form. It looks rather like the Union Jack, he says,
but after the Japanese shelling of our coast
he says he thinks the camouflage will be highly effective.

Parallel Thoughts

Abide thou with me, fear not: for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life: but with "thou shalt be in safeguard."—I Samuel 23:23.

Yet I argue not again Heaven's hand or will; nor bate a jot of right or hope; but still bear up and steer right onward.—Milton.

For a Better World

(From a Correspondent.)

The post-war arrangements concluded among Britain, Russia and the United States probably are even more important than the agreements made by the three contracting parties for the prosecution of the war itself. For whereas the latter commitments were expected and were more or less taken for granted, the solemn pacts which relate to the nature of our civilization when peace returns, were considered by some to be impossible of attainment.

Stalin had sought to obtain an agreement from the British that Russia would be given Eastern Poland, Eastern Finland, the three Baltic states and Bessarabia
after the war. Most of the high British officials were willing, it seems, although Winston Churchill was opposed, and the plan apparently would have carried through, had President Roosevelt not intervened. As Raymond Clapper has pointed out, he "threw all of his Dutch stubbornness into this struggle for the principles to which he was committed."

In other words, Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull saved
the Atlantic Charter and the principle of no territorial aggrandizement from being torn up soon
after it had been proclaimed.
They stopped Joseph Stalin from forcing a guarantee of disputed territories, and gave new meaning to the objectives for which the United Nations are fighting.

As a result the whole outlook for the post-war world is brighter than it was. Russia has signed a 20-year mutual assistance pact
with Britain, and a second European front has been underwritten
by the United States, apparently for 1942. Moscow regards these commitments as adequate substitutes for the territories she was seeking. Moreover, the chances of getting Finland out of the war
as an ally of the Axis, appear much brighter in consequence.

When we consider the much discussed recent speeches of Vice-President Wallace and Under-Secretary of State Welles, in which they enunciated the principles on which a prosperous and peaceful world can be built after this carnage is over, and take into consideration at the same time the important fashion in which Russia's position now dovetails with those semi-official blueprints, we may view the future with restrained optimism.

Mr. Wallace's forecast that the coming century will be that of the "common man," coupled with Mr.
Welles' assurance that United States will join in disarming all aggressors after the war is won and share in an international police power to "insure freedom
from fear to peace-loving peoples," added up to something important. Now that Russia has agreed to participate in the policing, and in the carrying out of the principles which Messrs.
Roosevelt and Churchill laid down
last August, it is even more important.

A better world is in the offing,
no matter what the calamity
howlers may say.

TALL TALE

From Spectator, London

The following story comes straight from an agricultural laborer who vouched for its truth;
but I must confess to some incredulity. On the floor of a rough barn where the farmyard hens frequently laid their eggs, he watched a rat take up an egg in the forepaws and then turn over on its back clutching the inviolable egg. Thereupon another rat came up and pulled the other along like a sledge. Close to the place where the two had disappeared were found 25 hens' eggs,
all unbroken. I have heard similar accounts before of this method of transport, but I do not remember on what authority.

San Francisco Girl Married Today to Frank Norton

Arriving yesterday by plane from her home in the south, Miss Marilyn Haley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Haley of San Francisco, Cal., became the bride of Mr. Frank Norton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Norton, 3010 Quadra Street, this afternoon. The quiet ceremony was formed in the chapel of St. John's Church at 3.30 by Rev. George Biddle, the rector.

Given in marriage by Mr. B. C. Pettingell, a distant relative, the bride wore a smart afternoon frock of delphinium blue, with model hat of tabac brown felt, ornamented on the wide brim with openwork effect, and brown accessories. Her corsage bouquet was composed of Ophelia roses, swainsons and white heather. Miss Ruth Norton, sister of the bridegroom, was the only bridesmaid, wearing a honey-colored afternoon frock, with French white hat, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Mr. Leslie Entwistle was best man.

The chapel was decorated with summer flowers for the ceremony, and flowers in colorful profusion were massed in the reception rooms at the home of the groom's parents, where relatives and a few intimate friends were welcomed after the service.

The young couple were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Norton, in a smart gown of black and white figured silk, with wide-brimmed black straw hat and black accessories, and Mrs. B. C. Pettingell, who chose a gown of white jersey with fox fur, a blue hat and blue and white accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and sweet peas.

The three-tiered wedding cake centred the prettily-appointed table, and after the customary toasts had been honored the bride and groom left for a brief honeymoon up-island before making their home in Victoria. The groom is a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

SCED—HALLETT

Barbara Mathilde (Berry), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hallett, 701 Vancouver Street, was united in marriage to Frederick Forbes Sced, V.A., R.C.N. V.R., H.M.C.S. Royal Roads, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Sced, Edgeware Road, at a pretty wedding at 8 Wednesday evening in the Church of Our Lord, Rev. Canon E. V. Bird officiated and Mr. T. Myers, organist, played the wedding marches. Mr. John Bray sang "O Promise Me" as the register was being signed.

The floral decorations were in the colors of red, white and blue, and rosettes of ribbon in the same colors were tied to the guest pews. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of ivory chiffon with long sleeves, and a beautiful veil of Brussels net, which had been her mother's, was held in place with a wreath of orange blossom and white heather. She also wore a lavalliere of peridots and pearls, a gift from her godmother, Miss M. Morris, Solihull Hall, Solihull, England. Her bridal bouquet was composed of Ophelia roses, white carnations and sweet peas, showered with sweet peas and sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Hallett, the bride's sister, and Miss Dora Elrick, wore frocks of dawn pink and turquoise blue with long full skirts and long sleeves, and sweetheart caps of white lace, with ribbon streamers down the back. They carried bouquets of pink carnations, blue delphiniums and sweet peas, and salmon pink carnations, white carnations and pastel-shaded sweet peas, respectively. Douglas Addison, L.V.A., supported the groom, and Stewart Reid, L.C., and Thomas Christopherson, S., were ushers.

The patriotic color scheme was also repeated at the reception held in Terry's Roseroom, where Mrs. Hallett welcomed the guests in a pastel blue dress with a navy blue redingote and navy and white accessories, assisted by Mrs. Sced in a beige ensemble with British tan accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of pale pink rosebuds and sweet peas.

The bride cut the wedding cake after the toast had been proposed by Mr. James Elrick, an old friend. Her going-away outfit was a leaf-green tailored suit with a green-trimmed hat of dark brown-pleated taffeta, alligator accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. After a honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Sced will make their home on Quadra Street.

MR. G. BAAL and his charming bride, who were married June 15 in Christ Church Cathedral, the reception being held at the Memorial Hall. The bride, the former Miss Vivian Temple, was a member of the student body at the University of British Columbia.

Bishop's Close Fete Realizes Over $200 For Guild's Work

Approximately $200 was realized Wednesday afternoon at the annual garden party of the Women's Guild and Sewing Circle of Christ Church Cathedral, held in the beautiful grounds of Bishop's Close. Rt. JANE: It really is a pleasure to work with Jewel, it creams so easily!

BETTY: Yes, and it blends so well with other ingredients!

MARTHA LOGAN: Right! That is a 'specially valuable quality in wartime, isn't it? Ready with the dough?

JANE: Yes—and here's the seasoned chopped veal.

MARTHA LOGAN: Now fold over the pasties and pop them in the oven. These mouth-watering little pies are as nutritious as they are delicious... typical of the recipes you'll find in our Jewel Cook Book!

Senior Auxiliary Donated $4,000 to Jubilee In Year

Wartime demands upon the Royal Jubilee Hospital have found its Senior Women's Auxiliary on the alert to meet the constant call for additional equipment and supplies, it was revealed in the reports presented at the annual meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Thos. Miller, the president, presided at the meeting held in the Nurses' Home.

In her secretarial review of the year's activities, Mrs. John Phethean noted the donation by the W.A. of $1,000 towards the purchase of a portable X-ray machine, 10 Simmons beds, costing $381.50, an electric blood coagula-tor, costing $595.40; an inhalator, costing $50.82, and $100 for the purchase of a carpet for the superintendent's office. Supplies provided by the W.A. included blankets, sheets, dressing-gowns and slippers, at a total cost of $190.88. Christmas cheer was also provided for all patients at a cost of $85.28.

VOTE ANOTHER $1,000

Although it did not come in the fiscal year, at the monthly meeting which preceded the annual meeting yesterday afternoon, it was decided to donate $1,000 out of the present bank balance toward the purchase of an autoclave sterilizer, which Dr. T. W.
Walker, the medical superintendent, explained, was urgently needed. The work of sterilizing had greatly increased, and it was explained that the new machine
would prove a saving on rubber gloves and rubber tubing.

"A part of our work very near to the hearts of all the members,"
the report continued, "is the providing of special nurses for very urgent, necessitous cases specially recommended by Miss Lena Mitchell, the nursing superintendent. We were able to render assistance to three cases of this kind, entailing the provision of six nurses during the year. One of these nurses, Mrs. Davies, generously returned her fee of $10 to the hospital linen shop."

MADE 778 ARTICLES

During the year the W.A. held 21 sewing meetings, making 778
finished articles, under the convener'ship of Mrs. H. G. Heisterman, who resigned as convener
after eight years in that office.
Reference was made to the various methods of raising funds, including the tag day, annual linen shower, the booth at the fall fair, teas, and more recently by the sale of used postage stamps collected by Mrs. R. H.
Oliver. Regret was expressed at the loss of two valuable members during the year, Mrs. B. A. Ross and Lady Barnard.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Mrs. T. G. Sheppard presented the audited financial statement showing the year's receipts
amounted to $2,427.90, which, together with the previous year's bank balance, made a total of $4,889.71. The disbursements amounted to $2,956.09, leaving a bank balance of $1,933.65, of which, $1,000 was immediately
voted to the cost of the new autoclave sterilizer.

Mrs. P. E. Taylor reported on membership dues, showing $492 collected; the total membership was 250, three new members having joined during the year. Mrs.
Guy Ford reported for the buying committee and Mrs. V.
Luney spoke of having visited
the hospital each week, her committee finding the patients comfortable and well cared for.

THANKS AUXILIARY

Dr. T. W. Walker, Alderman Worthington, president of the board of directors, and Miss Mitchell spoke in appreciative terms of the splendid contribution made by the auxiliary. Miss Mitchell mentioning specifically the members' great help in replenishing the linen supply. Mrs.
R. A. Wootton, president of the Junior W.A. was a guest at the

Where's He Now? Canadian Airmen Moves in Record

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian
mothers don't have to worry about where their wandering air force sons are tonight because the R.C.A.F. records department has its finger on every mother's son of them, whether on guard duty in the Saskatchewan prairie
or flying bombers in Libya.

The records-building at the Dominion Experimental Farm near Ottawa looks like any of the grey, temporary wartime buildings that have mushroomed up all over the capital. Actually, it's the "little black book" of the R.C.A.F.
Those rows of grey filing cabinets look just as exciting and as animated as any office furniture does, and it won't mean much to the average person that the R.C.A.F. keeps track of so many thousand airmen and airwomen
by the Hollerith punching system. But go on a route march up and down those miles of hallways
and filing rooms with Sqdn. Ldr.
T. K. McDougall and every piece of white cardboard comes to life and turns into a grinning lad in uniform with adventure in his eyes.

FOR WAR AND PEACE

Every day about 6,000 airmen
do something that has to be recorded and Sqdn. Ldr. McDougall's office has to look after them all. Every day there are thousands of inquiries to be handled—how many airmen can fly
a certain type of plane, how many man a particular air base, what officers are trained for a particular type of work. All these inquiries are for force secrets.

But there are nearly 100 inquiries regarding individual airmen every day. Someone hasn't written to his mother for months,
and she's worried and wants to

A.W.2 DOROTHY J. SNEDDON, who having completed her training at Rockcliffe and St. Thomas, Ont., has now been posted to Dafce, Sask., as a hospital assistant. She is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dods-worth, 742 Lampson St., Esquimalt, and before leaving Victoria
in April to join the R.C.A.F.
(Women's Division) was a member of the B.C. Women's Service Corps.

know where he is. An airman left a rooming house and overlooked paying the landlady and she wants to know where he is. A prospective father-in-law wants to know something about the background of an airman his daughter is engaged to: is he married already? A girl met a boy on leave, he proposed to her and disappeared, and she wants to trace him.

These are just a few of Sqdn.
Ldr. McDougall's headaches. Every request gets an answer
and as much attention as circumstances permit. For instance, an American girl met a Canadian airman in Chicago at a theatre.
She didn't know his name but she knew vaguely where he was stationed. She wanted to hear from him again. Her letter went to the records department. They got in touch with the man's station and found out who was granted leave at a certain date.
The boy was found and the girl's message was delivered.

TRIBUTE TO GIRLS

Sometimes, of course, it's impossible to tell anyone where a man is stationed, if he's on a secret mission or at a secret air base. In such a case those who are looking for him are asked to write a letter and send it to the records department. It's forwarded from there.

Sqdn. Ldr. McDougall takes his hat off to the young civil servants who do the job.
"They're swell girls, and every one of them is interested in the job," he says. "They're as eager to keep track of the boys as if they were related to them."

As a matter of fact, most of them are wives, sisters, daughters, or sweethearts of men in uniform. There's one sad little tale of a young filing clerk whose favorite brother was a pilot. One day a list was placed on her desk
of men killed in action, as it was her job to find the cards.

The top name was her brother's.

MRS. FRANK LEECH, the former Dorothy Irene Hudson, who

Keywomen Approve Budget Demands As Essential

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Women prominent in national and community affairs in Canada, expressed the view that Finance Minister Isley's 1942-43 budget, presented in the House of Commons Tuesday night, was "a good thing."

Of a group interviewed Wednesday by the Canadian Press
most agreed the budget was in many ways a woman's budget—
that it hit men's luxuries and pleasures harder than it hit women's. Others welcomed it as a safeguard to the morals of the country, and mothers of growing families expressed high satisfaction over the clause that provides for deduction from income tax
of unusually-high medical expenses and over the compulsory-saving provision.

"It's an exceptionally good budget," commented Mrs. Cora Casselman, Liberal, Edmonton East. "It will force us all to save money and that's an excellent thing for the future."

MEDICAL-DEDUCTION CLAUSE

The medical-deduction clause
will "enable people to have health attention that otherwise they couldn't have," she added. "The budget would help give the government the revenue it would need in wartime "and then when the war is over, they'll return
some of the money to us."

"And I'm glad to see those taxes that will be a check on extravagant spending and living,"
Mrs. Casselman said.

Another supporter of the compulsory savings imposed by the budget was Mrs. Edgar Hardy, president of the National Council of Women.

"I'm impressed with the rolling of the income and national defence tax into one," she said,
"and the provision for wartime saving."

Mrs. J. A. McCabe, national president of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, saw in the budget the road along which Canada will return to old-fashioned family life.

"I'm all in favor of taxing night clubs," she said. "Maybe people will stay home more. What Canada needs is more family life.
That's one of the things that is wrong with the world today."

War Guests to Have Own Ration Cards

OTTAWA — Child refugees from Europe and English war guests who are in Canada "for the duration" are each entitled to a sugar coupon ration card.

When application is made for them their names should go on a separate card from that used by the family with whom they are living. If a brother and sister are living in the home, their names will go on one application
card. If two evacuees from different families in England are living with you, separate application forms will be filled out for each of them.

Any responsible adult may sign the application form.

FOR BABIES, TOO

The newest newcomer who can only say "goo-goo" ... "gaga" and is still a cherub with pink wings to his mother, also will get a sugar ration card.
His name will go on the application card along with the names
of other members of the family.

And like other members of his family, whether they be mother and father or big brother or little sister, he will receive his own ration card on July 1.

Where children are born after
the date of national registration,
the parent may apply for a ration
card for the baby as soon as it is born. The application should be forwarded to the nearest ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Reith Joins Navy As Lt.-Commander

LONDON (CP)—Lord Reith, former chief of the British Broadcasting Corporation and the Ministries of Information, Transport and Works and Buildings, has joined the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve as a lieutenant-commander.

commanded $45,000 a year as head of the British Overseas Airways Corporation, now draws $6,100 a day and allowances. He is on the staff of the rear-admiral commanding the coastal forces, but the Admiralty says it hasn't "the slightest idea" what job he's doing.

His navy appointment recalled to friends a remark he made during the first Great War when he was visiting the United States. He was denouncing the Germans and his face, scarred at the battle of Loos, had an even fiercer expression than usual.

When a woman suggested Lord Reith should remember the biblical quotation, "Vengeance is Mine," he retorted, "Yes, vengeance is the Lord's, but I'd like to be one of His instruments."

Income Taxes Compared In Canada, Britain, U.S.

LT. A. C. FLETCHER, M.C., CROIX DE GUERRE is once again on active service. A major with a distinguished record in the First World War he joined the 14th Reserve Coy, Veterans' Guard of Canada, soon after the present conflict broke out and was given the rank of captain. In order to join the active army Lt. Fletcher stepped down a notch in rank. Beer Price Fixed Until Stocks Used

OTTAWA (CP)—No increases in beer prices are to be permitted in Canada until stocks produced before the higher taxes imposed by the 1942-43 budget have been disposed of, it was announced here today.

"In accordance with the order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, no increase will be permitted in beer prices until further advised," David Sim, administrator of alcoholic beverages for the board, told the Canadian Press.

Wires have gone out to all breweries in Canada not to increase prices until the board gives permission. With the brewers' prices remaining fixed, it is expected beer prices in stores and beverage rooms also will be unchanged.

No information was available here as to how long it would take to dispose of prebudget beer. The excise tax increase under the budget is around nine cents a gallon.

More British Aid For Australia

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Sir William Glasgow, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, said in an address here that the British government had agreed to proposals which he submitted on behalf of his government aimed to strengthen the defence of Australia and defeat Japan.

"The British government now have a keen appreciation of Australia's position and viewpoint,"

he told the Windsor Chamber of Commerce.

"I cannot discuss the proposals in detail, but they express the determination of Mr. Churchill and his government to strengthen our defences and overthrow Japan."

Sir William predicted Japan would either try to invade Australia or attempt to cripple her by a series of savage and reckless blows in the near future.

Letters to the Editor

TIME TO SCRAP RENT CONTROL

Of all the half-baked legislation that has been placed on the statute book of Canada, rental control is one of the biggest blunders.

The freezing of rents, especially in Victoria, at the depression level without freezing wages and materials for upkeep at the same level is rank injustice.

Allowing tenants to sublet a portion of a frozen rent house for more rent than they pay for the entire house is an insult to its owner.

Allowing the speculator to buy housing accommodation and rent
it for double or triple what similar houses are rented for, simply because it was not rented at the time rents were frozen, is rank injustice.

Scrap the whole act and give us a fair rent board. We want justice not Fascist dictatorship.
ALEXANDER PAGE,

T.B. SEAL CAMPAIGN

The Kiwanis Club of Victoria
wishes to thank the many citizens of Victoria and surrounding districts who so kindly supported their T.B. Seal Campaign.

The campaign was officially closed at the end of March, but as envelopes continued to come in, the books were not actually closed until April 30. Net returns
this year amounted to $3,323.83,
and while this was considerably
below the objective, the club feels that the response was most generous.

The funds, as in previous years,
will be used in connection with the T.B. rehabilitation work carried on by the Kiwanis Club Association at their workshop and store on Humboldt Street. The public are cordially invited to the shop to see the work that is being carried on and the useful articles that are being made.

tee.

ARMY WEEK

On behalf of the hospitality
committee of the Auxiliary Services I would like to appeal to all the citizens of Victoria to entertain men of the three services stationed in the district during Army Week, June 29 to July 5.

This week is being set aside as a special tribute to these men and it is hoped that it will be a week
that is remembered by soldiers and citizens alike. I would like to ask those who have been so kind during the last two years in entertaining the men in their homes to try and make a special point of issuing invitations during Army Week. And I would like to appeal to the service clubs
and other organizations in Victoria to extend invitations to groups of men from the services
at that time.

It is hoped that perhaps during this week and by means of this publicity we may be able to give an added impetus to our work.

and that even more homes will be made available.

Those wishing to offer the hospitality of their homes may do so
by phoning the Y.W.C.A., G 7179,
when the information will be relayed to the proper office in the hospitality committee.

DOROTHY SPURR,
Chairman, hospitality committee.

IDEOLOGIES

With much that Mrs. Ashe says I am in agreement. On certain points, however, she is not entirely clear. For instance, what does she mean when she asserts,
"It is not possible to oppose Fascism without opposing capitalism during all its development stages?"

Again, what are her reasons for saying that, "... the democracies

travel in the direction of Fascism,
and the Fascist nations in the direction of the Russian system,"
and that in Russia, "... the real basis of capitalist production has not been abolished?"

The apathy that Mrs. Ashe asserts is felt by workers towards the struggle between Fascism
and democracy, is more apparent
than real, and so far as it exists
at all is due to the confusion and disgust induced by weak and confused leadership and by betrayals
by their ruling classes. The British workers' opposition to Mosley
and his thugs, the French workers' support for their Popular Front, and above all, the heroic fight of the Spanish workers (hampered though it was by the disruptive idiocies of the anarchists and the P.O.U.M.) did not suggest apathy.

T. H. TOYNBEE.

BOOZE AND WAR

It is time to speak out on the question of liquor consumption.

In normal times industry in general paid wages to labor about eight to one for equal capital investment in breweries and distilleries.

Revenue from increased purchases of boots and clothing, etc.
would probably equal that derived from taxation of alcoholic products.

Sugar is rationed. Are the breweries' supplies of sugar being curtailed?

Barley stands high as feed for livestock. How much is being used by the liquor interests?

Our Federal government
"passes the buck" to the British Columbia government.

The moral and spiritual angle
should not be overlooked.

It is becoming more and more evident that there is a deliberate
policy of side-stepping at Ottawa.

There is a great difference between political strategy and statesmanship.

Alcohol is not a food. Profit is a poor substitute for principle.

ALF. K. DODSON, Sevenoaks.

LIQUOR AS WAR AID

In a letter Mr. M. I. King
quotes the Hon. M. A. McPherson, K.C., as saying that liquor
is a detriment to winning the war.
A novice may doubt this statement, but the honest medical man will confirm it. Stalin and Hitler know it and they have banned
alcohol from their armed forces.

It is a pity that the liquor control business has become a tax-raising proposition, the yearly increase of which is eagerly looked forward to as a splendid source of revenue. It is noticeable that the liquor stores and the public houses are the best outfitted and most attractively furnished business places, nor can it pass unnoticed that at a time when curtailment even of the most necessary commodities is being advocated or enforced, that liquor stores, beer parlors and breweries are increasing or are having their premises enlarged.

One need not be an "intolerant"
or a "bigotted" church member
to witness, with an aching heart filled with dark forebodings, the sight of so many of our otherwise
so splendid youths, swaying in our streets or being dragged along by their less inebriated fellows. Such scenes might well be one of the many answers to the oft asked question: "Why does God not intervene in this war?"
Another answer would be found in the condition as described in a report in your paper, where immoral conduct is ascribed to the fact of "girls being allowed to frequent beer parlors almost to midnight."

Hon. M. A. McPherson, K.C., is right when he states that: "It can hardly be argued that intoxicants as a beverage are essential." We are waging a spiritual warfare and our stand must be taken on the highest spiritual plane if the powers of darkness
within as well as without our camp are to be overcome.

Canada's total liquor bill for 1941 amounts to $250,000,000. The figures, so far this year, show
an increase of approximately 25 per cent. Mr. A. J. Irwin, Secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation, makes this statement
without comment.

L. J. ECKMAN.

mer triple boxing champion
Henry Armstrong tucked another notch in his comeback belt Wed-

Sheik Rangel, tough Fresno, Cal., welterweight, in a bruising 10-

The stocky Los Angeles negro,

hammered his rival, however,

pounds to his opponent.

Sports Mirror

By JIM KEARNEY

John Rowland, composer and rugby coach, rushed into the sports room, Wednesday, breathless and with an obvious load on his mind.

"Jim," he exploded, "Victoria has been libeled again. We have again been accused of being dead, of being the slowest city in the Dominion."

He then unfolded the sordid facts. It seems that a Vancouver radio announcer, a few nights ago, announced, with a bitter tinge of cynicism in his voice, that Victoria would next year celebrate—not its centenary—but its cemetery, 100 years of history from a Hudson's Bay trading post to the only city in Canada that rolls up its sidewalks at nine in the evening and forgets that the world exists until the next morning.

Now John, like any other patriotic Victorian, has every right to be offended. Let this brash announcer be reminded the name of Victoria was known up and down the Pacific Coast while the jungle still prevailed on both sides of Burrard Inlet.

Let him be reminded, as one of the city's old-timers reminded us this morning, that they were opening saloons and throwing away the keys in Victoria when Vancouver was a railway station and nothing else. That the streets of this fair city were thronged with gold miners, adventurers, gamblers, businessmen, every second person totting a six-gun, when Vancouver was a struggling village pushing the fir trees back from the shoreline.

But none of this has any bearing on sport. John did ask, however, that Victoria be vindicated from the viewpoint of athletics, if from no other angle. We admit the tempo of living in this city has slowed perceptibly since the surface gold in the Klondike disappeared, but John pointed out that we can still brag about fast teams and fast individual athletes.

"I just want you to prove that Victoria's athletes contradict all these lies about our city being so slow," John said.

Well, we thought it over for a few moments, and realized that John had something on the ball. Now take Torchy and Doug Peden, for instance. Are they slow on a bicycle saucer? What about Lynn and Muzz Patrick? You can't play hockey and have arthritis at the same time.

What about their silver-haired daddy, Lester? Would he be where he is now if he were slow? Of course not.

Then there's the case of the Victoria Dominos, four-time Dominion basketball champs. Why, they have the reputation of having more drive and speed than any champion hoop team that started on the road to the Dominion championship.

And you've heard of Bill Dale, Bruce Humber, and Joe Addison, all Victoria boys. Bill's one of the fastest middle-distance runners that ever matched strides with the cream of the crop from the whole of Western Canada and the States. Bruce upheld Canada's name in the sprints at the last Olympics. Joe represented Canada at the last British Empire Games and we're told he wasn't by any means sprinting with turtles.

Then there's Victoria rugby. The Reps have almost driven Vancouver rugger to suicide by monopolizing the McKee Cup. Did you ever see a good rugby team play well when the players were ready for crutches? I'll say you didn't. If a team hasn't got speed with its experience it might as well give up.

There's much more we could tell you—how Vancouver swimmers for years have been swallowing the foam kicked up by the thrashing feet of Victoria "Y" natators, of Audrey Griffin, probably one of the greatest women swimmers who ever lived, and she was a Victoria product.

Hang it all, we could keep this up for pages. But what's the use? If that doesn't help a little to convince the skeptics we'd better live up to the stories and roll up those sidewalks at nine. At least it might be an added tourist attraction.

Navy, Ack Acks In Duel Tonight

Royal Canadian Navy soft-balls will go up against their toughest opposition of the season this evening, when they play Maj. Connie Smythe's 30th Ack Acks at Athletic Park. Game time is 6.45.

The soldier outfit has some former Toronto stars in its line-up. Navy will use their first string pitcher, Stebbings.

The R.C.N. band will be in attendance and will play from 6.15 until game time.

WEDNESDAY'S GAMES

Palm Dairies, Northwestern Creamery and Adverts all came through with wins in Wednesday night's games. The Palms edged out St. Louis College, 7 to 6; Northwestern scored 14 runs in the eighth inning to get back in the ball game and beat K.V.'s 20 to 17, while Adverts turned back Units, 15 to 10, in a Women's League game.

'Save the Babies' Bowling, Saturday

Two games in aid of the British "Save the Babies" fund will be played on Beacon Hill Park green of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club Saturday. These games will consist of mixed rinks, and all city and visiting bowlers are invited to take part in aid of this worthy cause. Play is scheduled to start at 2.30 and 7.30. All entry fees will be marked as subscriptions to the "Save the Babies" fund. Nonplaying visitors are also asked to kindly give what financial aid they can.

Meantime in the American League the Yankees took another step out of their slump when they defeated St. Louis Browns 6 to 4 at St. Louis. Joe DiMaggio, apparently returning to old-time hitting form, had another

Passeau, Walters Win Pair Bid for Pitching Leadership

Those two hardy perennials, Claude Passeau and William (Lucky) Walters, are bidding strongly for the pitching leadership of the National League again.

This year most of the attention in the senior circuit has been given to Mort Cooper of St. Louis Cardinals, with his five shutouts, and Lefty Larry French of Brooklyn Dodgers, with his unmarred record of six victories and an earned run average of less than one per nine innings.

But Passeau and Walters made their claims heard anew Wednesday night with standout performances.

Passeau pitched a four-hitter for Chicago Cubs to beat Philadelphia Phils 3 to 1 and attain his 11th victory, the most games any pitcher in the major leagues has won. Hurling for a second division club he has been at a disadvantage, yet has accounted for exactly one third of all the victories the Bruins have scored this season.

10-INNING WIN

Walters also has had little help from his teammates, with Cincinnati ranking last in the league in both batting and fielding, yet he has been consistently good and held New York Giants to six hits over 10 innings last night to lead the Reds to a 4 to 3 decision in a twilight game.

It was Bucky's eighth success against five setbacks. He had a duel all the way with Hal Schumacher and a two-run homer by Frank McCormick, his 10th, tied the score in the eighth inning and another roundtripper by rookie Bert Haas in the overtime stanza settled the issue.

CARDS LOSE TWO

St. Louis' Cardinals pennant hopes were rudely jarred twice at Boston when the Braves, who have suffered 17 losses in their last 19 starts, took both ends of a doubleheader 6 to 2 and 3 to 1. Meantime in the American League the Yankees took another step out of their slump when they defeated St. Louis Browns 6 to 4 at St. Louis. Joe DiMaggio, apparently returning to old-time hitting form, had another good day, driving in two runs with a pair of singles.

Ted Williams of the Red Sox added his 17th homer of the season and, with Charley Wagner's three-hit pitching, that helped give Boston a 1 to 0 triumph over Detroit.

At Cleveland, the Indians pounded three Philadelphia Athletics' pitchers for 15 hits while veteran southpaw Al Milnar held the Mackmen to five safeties and the Indians won 9 to 0.

Johnny Humphries, showing some of his 1941 form, pitched Chicago White Sox to a 6 to 0 victory over Washington Senators.

COAST LEAGUE

Seattle Rainiers upset the league-leading Sacramento club, 13 to 5, Wednesday night as they hit a baseball playing stride similar to the pace that won them the Pacific Coast League pennant for the past three years.

A doubleheader was scheduled, but the added attraction was called no contest after three innings as Sacramento led 6 to 3. The win nosed Seattle into the upper division a percentage point ahead of San Francisco Seals who took an 8 to 2 wallop from Oakland.

Seal fans had an opportunity for dramatic relief as they saw umpire Bill Widener eject Johnny Vergez, Oak manager from the game along with Marv Gudat, rightfielder, who was called out in a close play at first base.

Los Angeles climbed to within one game of the top-spot Sacramento club by means of an 8 to 2 win from Hollywood.

San Diego was kept idle by a postponement at Portland and Beaver manager Frank Brazill announced the teams would play an experimental day game Saturday in an attempt to boost attendance records.

Services Play Bays Tonight

United Services, the most improved team in the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse League, will find out just how much it has improved when it stacks up against the league-leading James Bays at the Sports Centre tonight. Game time is 8.30 with a preliminary between Young Bays and Young Jokers at 7.

Services have won their last two games and are beginning to pass the ball and play like a team for the first time this season. This, coupled with the fact the squad contains the classiest material in local lacrosse, points to one of the best games of the season tonight.

Their goalie, Jimmie Ryan, has improved immensely, to round off the general rise in the service-men's stock. Petty Officer Norm Barton thinks tonight's the night.

Manager Ted Menzies of the Bays put his team through a stiff two-hour workout Monday night and thinks his boys can win again although he admits they will have their hands full.

James Bay team: Long, McKeachie, Costello, Cullin, Ball, Fraser, Ferguson, Davey, Anderson, Manson, Macaulay, Woodhouse, Nicol, McFadden and Hetherington.

R.A.F. Cricket Team Wins Again

The Royal Air Force carried on in customary manner Wednesday, defeating Spencer's cricket team, 108 to 69, at Beacon Hill Park.

Batting first, the flyers amassed this total principally on the double-figure batting of four of their top men. Thorner with 27, Hall with 25, Samuel, 21 not out, and Naylor with 16 paved the road to their win.

The R.A.F. bowlers held most of the department store batters in check, but found a little trouble in disposing of Clarke, who batted 21 runs, Petch, 12 not out, and Baker 11 runs.

Baseball Tonight

Navy second division baseballers will be out for revenge tonight when they play V.M.D. at Admirals Road. After being beaten by Army, 13 to 0, last Tuesday the sailors say the shipbuilders are going to take it on the nose tonight.

Eagles, beaten by V.M.D. in their last start, tackle the Army at Beacon Hill. Both games are slated for 6.30.

Spring burning of pasture land damages grass and timber, destroys soil fertility and starts erosion, according to forestry experts.

Win Game In First 2 Innings

Those league-leading V.M.D. ball clouters went out to Athletic Park Wednesday night and to the merry tune of 5 to 3 gave Pitzer & Nex a sizeable glimpse of the sordid life the gasheaters had but recently left behind.

Some erratic pitching in the early part of the game by Pitzer & Nex southpaw, Ritchie Nicol, bad base running by the gasmen and two errors gave the game to V.M.D. although outslugged nine hits to six by the losers.

SEASON'S LOUDEST ABUSE

The features of the game, however, were two decisions at first base by umpire "Shorty" Pendray. In the sixth he called Pitzer & Nex's catcher, Toad Garnett, out at first on a throw from third when Garnett was pulling up somewhere in the nether regions of right field. Victoria baseball fans, usually the epitome of calmness, let blast with the loudest abuse of the season as manager Bert Nex led a delegation of gashouse players to first base.

For several moments there was heated debate while a few hundred fans kibitzed with gusto. Garnett, however, stayed out.

In the last of the ninth V.M.D.'s Laurel Harney scampered down to first on the same play and got the same call. The partisan crowd didn't yell as much on this occasion as manager Pat Steele went through the same motions as rival mentor Nex. Harney stayed out, also, and everyone had a grand time stewing insults thither and yon.

NICOL STARTS WILDLY

But, to get back to the game, it was won by the shipyarders in the first two innings. Ritchie Nicol got to the park late and went in the box with only a hurried warm-up. In the first two sessions he allowed three runs and pitched ball all around the plate. Later he settled down and the fans enjoyed a tight game.

Winning pitcher, Cy Shillito, was making his third appearance against Bert Nex's team and came through with his third win. He had control of the ball all evening and only got into tough spots on a couple of occasions.

Shillito fanned five and walked only two. Nicol walked eight, one of them home for a run, and struck out six.

V.M.D. got their first run in the opening inning. Babe Work, lead-off man, walked, Charlie Strouger bunted down first and was called safe on interference when Nicol attempted to field the ball; Euerby flied out, Reg. Patterson went to first on four balls and Harney repeated with the bases loaded to walk Work home. Steve Dunc, the next batter, slashed into a double play, to retire the side.

In the fifth V.M.D. stretched their lead to another run when Patterson singled to drive Strouger home after the shipyard shortstop had made second on a hit to short right field.

GASMEN SCORE COUPLE

The last of the seventh was the biggest session for the gas station boys. Harper, the first man to bat, singled, Noel Morgan advancing him after he had walked. "Moose" Murray then singled to short right field to fill the bases. The crowd was yelling as Ritchie Nicol dropped a high fly into Restall's hands in deep centre. Harper came home after the catch. Then Dunc McGeachie doubled to send Morgan home. But, alas and alack, Bert Nex almost wept as Dunc overran second base and was tagged out making the return trip.

With McMillan on third, V.M.D. scored the last run of the game. Work singled to short left to drive in the score.

field and Morgan sent Stratton home on another two-base hit to right field. But Morgan took too big a lead off second and was caught on a snap throw by Shillito. Musgrave then popped to Strouger at shortstop and the scoring was stopped.

In the fourth V.M.D. catcher, Laurel Harney, split a fingernail and went out to right field after being replaced by slugger Reg. Patterson. In this inning the gasmen got two more hits, but Stratton was out trying to stretch a run from second to third all the way home to retire the side.

BETTY JAMESON DANGEROUS AGAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Betty Jameson really hit her old time golfing form Wednesday, and as word spread around the Elmhurst course, the other seven survivors in the women's western open, nervously agreed the Texas girl had become the traditional "one to beat."

San Antonio Betty, twice a national champion, rolled down the first nine holes today in 36 strokes, two under par, and thereby grabbed a 5-up lead on Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich. She took one of the next four holes and halved the others to crush Miss Wall 6 and 5, and move into today's quarter finals.

Miss Jameson was grouped in the lower bracket with Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., and Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill. Betty's immediate concern is Miss Foster, her foe today, while Miss Kirby and Miss Cline will tangle.

Vacation for Health And Strength This Year

Simplicity is the keynote of this year's vacation program. Long motor trips are out of the picture, for obvious reasons. Sumptuous train trips are no longer on the schedule. Lengthy boat cruises are out as well. What's left? Plenty!

For one thing, nearby vacation centres are coming into their own. Every holiday spot on Vancouver Island is ready to do nobly by everyone on holiday. All up and down the Island Highway and along the interesting side roads you can find time and place to play, to rest, to relax, to get a new grip on life. Recreation, all down the line, has this year taken on its old, fundamental meaning—recreation of health and strength and the drive that puts a job across. If you don't know Vancouver Island, it's time you did. Here are a few paragraphs of vacation chatter to help you. You've always thought Campbell River was just a fishing spot? My goodness! You'd better change your mind right now! It's right on the edge of the finest natural woodland playground on Vancouver Island. Stop at THE WILLOWS HOTEL for a few days and see for yourself.

Outdoor fun of all kinds at Comox. Beautiful surroundings. Fine sand beaches. THE ELK HOTEL offers splendid accommodation in a really friendly atmosphere.

Right on the river, in the outskirts of the thriving little city of Courtenay, you'll find GREEN LANTERN AUTO CAMP. Everything here for a real vacation. Clean cottages, splendidly furnished. Fishing good at all times.

If you are thinking of a trip to the Forbidden Plateau, it's time to make plans right now. CORTEAU'S CAMP is right in the midst of the plateau country.

He quotes studies by other dental scientists on a relation between sugar and tooth decay and observations in his own practice of more decay among patients who habitually chewed gum.

"Excessive habitual use of chewing gum appears to cause caries in some cases," he states.

"Persons free from caries who chew gum habitually do not appear to have healthier mouths than those who do not," he adds.

One young man, Dr. Fleisch reports, had been having cavities at the average susceptibility rate of two or three a year except for a three-year period when no new cavities developed. Then, suddenly, he developed 11 new cavities within 13 months. The only change in his food or living habits during this period was his taking to chewing gum because he worked in an office where smoking was not allowed.

This young man's experience gives a hint to other gum-chewers: If you must chew, stick to one piece of gum as long as possible. Chewing half a stick at a time, Dr. Fleisch points out, introduces sugar into the mouth at more frequent intervals than continuous chewing of the same piece.

The most plausible claim for chewing gum is that it provides exercise for the jaws, Dr. Fleisch states. This claim is somewhat offset, he believes, by the observation that millions of dollars worth of gum has been chewed in this country for some years without producing any strengthening of the jaws or improvement of dental conditions.

Margaret Jenkins Closing Ceremony

The Margaret Jenkins closing exercises Wednesday took the form of a pageant of the United Nations.

Twenty-three cadets entered the hall bearing large cardboard flags of the Allies painted by the pupils themselves. They took up a Victory V formation on the floor of the hall in front of the platform.

The curtain rose for the singing of "O Canada" to display 35 girls of the senior classes on the stage dressed in white and blue, wearing bangles of red, white and blue, and supported by two girls in red Scottish uniform with pipes and one girl in a red Russian costume. The girls were seated in tiers rising on each side of steps leading to a throne at the back under a Royal Standard. Large flags flanked the stage and smaller Union Jacks here and there gave a further patriotic tone to the setting.

The entry of Britannia and her ascension to the throne was the signal for all to rise for the singing of Rule Britannia. Each flag was then brought forward in turn by a cadet while another pupil gave a short history of that particular flag and the country it represented. Between the stories of the countries, appropriate national songs were sung, accompanied by Mr. Stanley Bulley.

GRADUATION TEA

Following the concert the Parent-Teacher Association gave a graduation tea to Grade 8 pupils, their parents, teachers and the school trustees. The tables, set in the shape of a "U", were decorated in the school colors—pink and green. Grade 8 girls filed in to tea dressed in dresses they made in the home economics class, while the boys still wore their cadet uniforms.

Doreen Rust made an excellent chairman and introduced the speakers in a capable manner. Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, the new president of the P.T.A., welcomed the guests and, representing the late Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, presented the Margaret Jenkins prize to the leading pupil of school—Margaret Hastings. As leading pupil, Margaret Hastings gave an excellent resume of the year's work, and appropriately thanked the P.T.A. and the teachers for herself and the others of her class.

Mrs. C. Hudson, the convener of the bursary committee of the Women's Canadian Club, also gave a delightful little speech and presented Beverly Findler with the Canadian history prize for her proficiency in that subject. The principal, W. H. Muncy, made a presentation to John Armour as leading boy of the school.

The P.T.A. were then appropriately thanked for their assistance to the school during the past year and for the present graduation tea, by John Armour. After grace by Ruth Gray, members of the P.T.A. served tea to the graduating students and their guests. Mrs. C. Shaw, retiring president, and Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, new president, of the P.T.A., poured.

During the afternoon the school band, formed under the direction of A. Prescott, entertained the guests, who included Ald. and Mrs. P. E. George, H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector of schools, and Mrs. Campbell, F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, and Col and Mrs. W. N. Winsby.

Besides the graduation exercises and graduation tea, there was a fine display of woodwork and stripwork which had been done under the guidance of Len Campbell.

A request for permission to hold a tag day in Victoria to raise funds for Esquimalt A.R.P. needs, including an ambulance, was repeated to the city in a letter from Reeve Alex. Lockley, civilian protection chief, for that municipality. A previous request was declined by the city.

Property Sales High to April

During the first four months of the current year property sales in Victoria reached a point higher in value than 1941's record figures, although the actual number of deals were less numerous, the city assessor-collector's department announced today with release of April figures.

At April 30, a total of 407 parcels had been sold for $1,197,161 against 528 sold for $1,015,441 at the equivalent date last year.

Monthly sales for April lagged slightly, 108 properties changing hands for $238,063 against 154 for $297,541 in April, 1941.

Transfers in April amounted to $112,768 and wills to $88,671, making the aggregate for the month $439,502. In April last year transfers were listed to $64,822 and changes through wills at $42,345, making the aggregate, with sales, $404,908.

Oak Bay A.R.P. Test 'Most Realistic'

Oak Bay's A.R.P. test in No. 4 patrol area of sector 1B Wednesday night was the most realistic practice ever carried out in that district, A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay A.R.P. controller, said this morning.

Mrs. Musgrave and O. A. Butters, chief warden for Oak Bay, said the test was a complete success. Although the practice ran for two hours, no telephone communication was used except to call fire trucks and ambulances. Messengers carried word from the scenes of "incidents" to No. 4 post.

The practice included "incidents" throughout Oak Bay, most realistic ones being automobile smashups, unexploded bombs and fires.

The auxiliary hospital at the Willows School was at times flooded with "patients" but Mr. Musgrave said one of the purposes of the test was to see how the staffs stood up under realistic conditions.

G. Murdock was responsible for planning the "incidents." Wardens who had charge of the test were P. W. Gilson, George Ford, R. M. Lochhead and G. Murphy.

Mr. Musgrave said the first A.R.P. test for all Oak Bay would be carried out the night of July 15.

Men will receive training in repair and maintenance of searchlights, guns and mountings, precision instruments, carriers, tanks, trucks and cars. As a mechanical unit it should appeal to all men engaged in all forms of mechanical and machine shop work.

Worry Is Useless, Speaker Tells Lions

The uselessness of worry, and the mental and physical complications resulting from it, were described to members of the Lions Club by William R. Watson.

Without arms since birth, Mr. Watson told how the effect of worrying causes damage to one's heart, mind and general physical well-being. He told how he had managed to graduate from university by using his feet and his teeth to do his writing, and of how he had adopted the laws of compensations and adaptation in his life.

"Without arms I manage to wash my face, clean my teeth and shave—by using my toes," he said.

With him at the luncheon was his wife, and he told of how he had met her and married her by placing the ring on her finger with his mouth.

It is the ambition of Mr. Watson to better the conditions of disabled persons and he started this with his first book, "My Desire." This is the only autobiography ever printed in Canada to have a fourth printing.

Speaking on rehabilitation of disabled soldiers after the war, he said that Canada should see these men placed in modern schools, where they can be trained and put into society again, as normal citizens.

"You can do your part in this part of the program by regarding these disabled men as normal and as one of you," he said.

U.S. MAY SCRAP IRON FENCES, GATES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Donald Nelson, United States war production board head, told Congress today raw materials shortages, admittedly due in part to a "too little and too late" policy, eventually might force the scrapping of metal fences, gates, statuary and other decorative works.

"There are very few important materials concerning which the government does not need to take positive action," Nelson said in a report to the special Senate defence investigating committee.

While asserting production of raw materials was steadily increasing, he cautioned scrap collections must be stepped up.

To achieve the W.P.B. objective, he said, monthly production for the rest of this year must average double the current levels. Expenditures for war goods alone under the 1942-43 program must average $6,000,000,000 a month, he said, compared with the current rate of about $3,853,000,000. For the years 1942 and 1943, the country must produce $140,000,000,000 worth of war goods, he said.

Set Altering Prices For Fur Garments

OTTAWA (CP)—An order announced today by Michael Morris, administrator of fur skins and fur garments, War-time Prices and Trade Board, regulates charges for altering and repairing fur garments.

The new order specifies no person "wholly or partly engaged" in the business of altering and repairing fur garments shall make a charge greater than the mark-up obtained in the basic period Sept. 15 to Oct. 11, 1941. All persons engaged in this business are required hereafter to keep an accurate record of all costs of labor and materials involved in each contract for repairs or alterations, the board said.

Where the cost is to exceed $15, written authorization of the work must be obtained from the person so charged, showing the nature of the alterations and repairs and the estimated charge. If on completion the actual cost is less than anticipated, the customer will receive rebate.

Don't be the missing man.

TOWN TOPICS

Ward 4, Saanich Liberals, will meet in Marigold Hall, Friday night at 8, to consider proposals for rehabilitation and after-war problems.

A bus, driven by Ronald Shillito, and an automobile driven by George Irving, Alberta, collided at View and Yates Streets Wednesday night. Irving suffered a broken nose. Considerable damage was sustained by both vehicles.

A warning over the condition of the city sidewalk bordering the St. Ann's Academy, Humboldt Street wall, part of which collapsed, and the remainder of which will be removed, was repeated to the city by Joseph McKenna in a letter received at the City Hall today.

A.R.P. Carries Out 2-District Test

The first two-district test to be tried by Victoria A.R.P. was carried out successfully Wednesday night. Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, reported this morning the test was carried out smoothly and realistically.

Tag part in the practice for the first time was the Chinese detachment led by Joseph Hope. One "incident" involved the rescuing of 20 Chinese from a trapped building.

Inspector Bishop praised the Chinese for their co-operation and efficiency and said orders were carried out to the letter and messages were clear and concise.

He also praised the work of the auxiliary police and firemen.

The G. H. Hind stretcher which has been variously called the A.R.P. stretcher or the "flying ironing-board" was tried out for the first time with human "casualties," as rescue squads lowered two "victims" from the roof of the Phoenix Brewery.

The Hind Stretcher is stiff so, with the patient tied to it, it may be lifted at any angle. It is especially adapted for removing persons from wreckage or in cramped conditions.

According to reports from Districts 3A and 3B, which took part in the test, no difficulties were found in carrying out assignments, although an effort was made to include as many types of "casualties" and "incidents" as possible.

N. F. Leach was in charge of the district control for 3A at the Mt. Edward Apartment. Capt. W. C. Thompson conducted the test for 3B from the control at the Quadra Primary School.

Says Air Cadets Set Standard for R.C.A.F.

Group Capt. K. M. Guthrie told the Rotary Club luncheon today the high standard of Victoria air cadets had been taken as a shooting mark for drill masters of the R.C.A.F. in Victoria.

Tracing the development of the air cadet training program from the time the first planes flew, Group Capt. Guthrie said there were now 139 units in Canada with a total strength of 17,000 cadets.

"I think this is a remarkable record considering how late the Air Cadet League was getting started," he said.

He conveyed the gratitude of Air Vice-Marshal L. F. Stevenson to the Rotary Club for sponsoring a flight of cadets in Victoria.

Ken McAllister, photographer, was introduced into the club. Harvey Bamford, court reporter, was elected to the club.

Buttons Restricted

OTTAWA (CP)—An order restricting shapes, sizes and colors of buttons manufactured for use on certain civilian apparel was announced today by J. A. McLaren, administrator of textile sundries for the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

It affects buttons for men's suits, overcoats and trousers, women's coats and suits, negligees, sport and work shirts, pyjamas and underwear. Sizes for women's coat and suit buttons are limited to 30, 36, 45 and 55; for men's suits and overcoat buttons the prescribed sizes are 24, 30, 34, 36, 40, 45 and 50; for new and no new shapes or patterns are to be made.

All two-hole top pant buttons are to be eliminated and 22-line trouser buttons used as a substitute.

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—Recent heavy rains have damaged the Surrey potato crop to the extent of a 50 per cent loss, it is estimated after a survey by G. L. Landon, district agriculturalist; Counsellor Lyall A. Currie and Henry Rose, secretary of the Surrey Farmers' Institute.

Considerable damage has been done carrots and other vegetables, but as the acreage of these is much smaller, losses will be proportionately lower. The lettuce crop has escaped heavy damage.

Post-war Group Back From North

After touring the far northern interior of B.C., the Post-war Rehabilitation Council, under chairmanship of Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, is studying briefs presented by many civic organizations, preparatory to meeting in a few weeks.

"At every place we visited public hearings were held, and we were met by village or city councils, representatives of Canadian Legion, Trade Boards, Farmers' Institutes and other bodies, all of whom presented carefully prepared briefs, as well as oral suggestions," Mr. Perry said on his return here today.

GRATIFIED

"All members of the council were gratified at the trouble taken by the citizens to prepare plans suitable for purposes of rehabilitation in their respective districts. The remarkable response to letters from the council soliciting advice was of great encouragement to the members."

Mr. Perry said the actual and potential resources of central B.C. were clearly evidenced. Every community presented valuable information regarding the possibilities for planned land settlement, the opportunities for timber, mineral and water-power development, the possibilities for establishment of new industries, the necessity for providing electric power in rural areas and particular emphasis was placed at almost every point on the necessity for packing plants, abattoirs, cheese factories and creameries.

"At every place representations were made opposing the old and present system of undirected settlement," Mr. Perry said. "Industrial opportunities included development of coal, iron, copper, rare metals, marble, clays and other minerals."

MINERAL SPRINGS

"Of particular interest were the hot mineral springs at Lake Lakelse, and the members were surprised that neither the Canadian National Railways, nor other investors had developed this remarkable resource as a health and tourist resort."

Mr. Perry, a resident of the north for 30 years, said he was astounded at the development which has suddenly sprung to life throughout the whole of central B.C. which is largely or almost entirely due to activities related to the war.

"Hotel and eating accommodation is at a premium in almost every community along the C.N.R. line."

N. F. Leach was in charge of the district control for 3A at the Mt. Edward Apartment. Capt. W. C. Thompson conducted the test for 3B from the control at the Quadra Primary School.

No Sugar for Goats, Ration Cards Refused

There will be no sugar for goats under the coupon rationing system.

War-time Prices and Trade Board has received inquiries from owners of goats asking if they could use demerara sugar for their quadrupeds and, in one instance, whether the goat's name should appear on the application form.

Officers of the board investigating these unusual requests found that molasses has been included in goat feed.

Under Administrator's Order A-144 use of molasses for such purposes has been prohibited and some goat owners have therefore been using sugar.

R. M. Bryan, director of feeds, administration for British Columbia, said molasses now can only be used for animals on the recommendation of a qualified veterinarian that it is necessary for the treatment of certain livestock ailments.

Goats which have been getting sugar will now have to make a sacrifice and help the war effort. "The goats would probably eat the ration cards anyway," said an official.

Ralston to Speak

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston will be the special speaker on a radio program, "Shoulder to Shoulder," to be broadcast over the national network of the CBC Friday from 5.30 to 6 p.m., P.D.T., in connection with Army Week, June 29 to July 5.

The minister will also be heard Sunday from 7.15 to 8 p.m., P.D.T., on a program called "On Guard for Thee," in which Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the 1st Canadian Army overseas, and Lieut. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the general staff, will also take part.

To welcome new members, the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association will hold a reception at the home of the president, Alex H. Sutherland, 2800 Dewdney Avenue, Saturday, from 3. Music will replace the regular literary program.

E. A. Field Dies

WINNIPEG—Word has been received of the death in Santa Monica, Cal., of Edward Allan Field, formerly land commissioner for the Canadian National Railways, western lines.

Mr. Field, who was in his 66th year, was born in Wadena, Sask., May 5, 1877, the son of pioneer settlers. For years he represented the C.N.R. land department in Chicago. In 1917 he was appointed land commissioner for the C.N.R. at Winnipeg. He retired October, 1930, on account of ill-health. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Florence.

URGENT CITIZENS TO MAKE MASKS

Members of the Victoria Lions Club plan starting a campaign in the city to encourage citizens to learn how to make their own gas masks, it was announced at the luncheon meeting today.

Two examples of masks already made were exhibited, one made of rubber tubing, the other of canvas. It is the object of the club to train members to make these at home, and teach their families and friends. Extra masks made will be sold at cost price.

It was explained that there might be difficulty in obtaining rubber tubing. The B.C. Salvage Corps would be approached, it was stated.

Announcement was made that the annual international convention of Lions clubs will be held in Toronto, July 23.

Six motorists were each fined $2.50 in city police court today for infractions of parking regulations, and another fined $5 for failing to stop at a stop-sign.

Drop Expected In High Students

A decrease in enrolment is anticipated at Central Junior High and Victoria High School when the next school year starts in September, H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector, said today as city schools went ahead with arrangements to close classes Friday.

Employment opportunities, particularly in war industries, are expected to absorb a considerable number of students, the municipal inspector said.

While unwilling to say anything that might discourage entry into war production, he suggested parents weigh carefully the projected entry of students into non-essential dead-end jobs, simply because there was an earning opportunity, if they would benefit from further educational opportunities. The ultimate results of curtailed education in respect to its effect on students' futures should be analyzed when the matter was considered, he said.

The newly inaugurated placement system organized under the direction of Harold Johns at the High School had succeeded in placing a good many who were leaving schools, he said, but there appeared to be a lack of seasonal summer work for those who wished to find employment during July and August and return to class in September.

A considerable number had been released for berry picking, Mr. Campbell said, although actual figures have not been compiled to date.

Fewer Strawberries Preserved This Year

Victoria housewives are not preserving strawberries this year as they have before.

This statement, made by several dealers in the city today, is based on the fact that prices per case for strawberries are practically double last year's price. Now selling at approximately $3 per case, the average housewife figures that it may be cheaper to purchase jam and preserves than make them.

Added to the high cost is the fact numerous Victorians who regularly can and preserve strawberries are confused about the sugar rationing system. Many requests and questions are being presented to fruit dealers in the larger stores.

Wholesalers say the season is nearly over, this year's crop being shorter than usual, and the market upset due to higher prices, wet weather and lack of pickers.

Plastic Surgeon Visiting Victoria

Dr. Ernest Fulton Risdon, noted Canadian plastic surgeon, is a distinguished visitor to the city from Toronto, accompanied by his daughter, Helen.

Seen at the Empress Hotel this morning, Dr. Risdon said he was here looking up some friends after attending the Canadian Medical Association convention at Jasper Park Lodge.

Dr. Risdon is consultant to the Departments of Pensions, National Health and Defence, and surgeon in charge of reconstructive surgery at Christie Street Military Hospital and Toronto Western Hospital, also associate professor of oral surgery at the University of Toronto.

He served in the 1914-18 war as a volunteer medical officer with the Toronto Regiment, C.A.M.C. He is the author of many articles on reconstruction of faces and jaws.

ROSES DRAWING CROWDS TO PARK

Given fine weather, the weekend should bring a near record crowd to Beacon Hill to see the exceptionally fine display of blooms in the rose garden there. W. H. Warren, city parks superintendent, said today.

That particular flower is at its best now and displays in Beacon Hill have won high praise from experts, he said.

Among the latter have been H. M. Eddie, Sardis, B.C., largest commercial rose grower in Canada, who informed Mr. Warren the garden at the park was the finest he had seen in any park this season.

The attractiveness of the garden has been increased by further development of the region, which has become one of the show spots under city parks jurisdiction.

Danger in Egypt May Not Be Great

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the Pacific War Council, and of the U.S. Congress discussed war conditions and war plans today with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. With complete unanimity, they said this afternoon that they had received definite impressions that there was reason for encouragement in the over-all situation.

This applied particularly to Egypt, they indicated.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, said Mr. Churchill had indicated Egypt and the Suez Canal were not in too great danger.

Walter Nash, New Zealand's minister to this country, said "there are things in Egypt that might make it awkward" for the enemy, and he said that was true regardless of reports that the Nazis had penetrated Egypt for 60 miles.

MOYNA MACGILL IN STAR GROUP

Whether or not Eire is neutral, Moyna Macgill deserted her long-successful stage career with the Irish Players and spent the first six weeks of the blitz in driving an ambulance through the streets of London; now she is devoting her time and talents to another patriotic venture, the current tour of "Celebrity Parade," which will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday evening, July 4, for one performance, the proceeds to be turned over to the Air Marshal Bishop Fund for the Air Cadet League of Canada.

Irish-born Moyna Macgill made her stage debut at 19 opposite Sir Gerald du Maurier and was an overnight success. At the outbreak of the current conflict, Moyna Macgill was being starred in "Kilgerrig" in "Twilight," which closed down when the air raids became too severe. It was then that she commenced driving an ambulance.

When the blitz let up and the R.A.F. had the superiority of the air in hand, Moyna Macgill accepted a Broadway offer and has just closed in "Yesterday's Magic," in which she played opposite Paul Muni. She has also appeared in several British films, many of these directed by Herbert Wilcox, the famous British producer, who is supervising the "Celebrity Parade" trans-Canada tour.

"Call Out Marines" To Be Shown Here
One of the most famous acting teams in screen history, Victor McLaglan and Edmund Lowe, is featured in RKO Radio's new Service comedy, "Call Out the Marines," coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

First brought together in the immortal "What Price Glory," McLaglan and Lowe have subsequently made tight other vehicles. The current picture marks their first reunion in six years.

Binnie Barnes, Paul Kelly, Robert Smith, Dorothy Lovett and Franklin Pangborn head the supporting cast of the film, which is said to be one of the season's funniest offerings.

NEW SERIAL STARTS AT RIO
Kenneth Howell, mischief making eldest son in the "Jones Family" pictures, has a feature role with the Dead End Kids and the Little Tough Guys who star in Universal's 12-chapter serial film, "Junior G-Men," now playing each week at the Rio Theatre.

This time, however, Howell portrays the head of a band of Junior G-men who use their wits and their fists to help government agents track down and capture enemy elements bent on destruction of airplane factories, munition plants and military fortifications.

The regular feature shows Frank Morgan in "The Wild Man of Borneo."

DISNEY FEATURE ON CADET SCREEN
Motion picture audiences witnessing Walt Disney's new feature-length "Dumbo," coming to the Cadet Theatre today, will find their laughter changing to tears and back to laughter again, for Disney and his staff have skillfully combined heart-tugs with hearty laughs.

This RKO Radio release in Technicolor relates the story of a little elephant, born under the big top, whose immense ears make him a laughing stock. How with the help of loyal, tough little Timothy Mouse, Dumbo finally comes out on top with a bang, is related in a series of merry, touching, exciting and comic adventures.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have reached the peak of their comedy careers. In their new picture, M-G-M's "Rio Rita," now at the Capitol Theatre, they "kissed 10 beautiful girls in a row... and got paid for it!" Costello received the lucky plum... he kissed all 10. Abbott, who kissed only the blondes, scored six. Patsy Mace, Roberta Anderson, Joan Valeria, Joy Barlowe, Alice Kirby, Barbara Simmons, Virginia Cruzon, Marjorie Dean, Barbara Clemens and Dorothy Gilmore were the beauties.

Strangely enough, Runyon, whose latest Universal picture, "Butch Minds the Baby," is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, was born in Manhattan, the Manhattan of his birth is Manhattan, Kansas, 1,200 miles west of Times Square.

All of Runyon's stories are centered within the confines of one short block on Broadway.

'BADLANDS OF DAKOTA' FILMED

"Badlands of Dakota" opened today at the Plaza and Oak Bay Theatres with Robert Stack, Ann Rutherford, Richard Dix, Frances Farmer and Andy Devine in the all-star cast.

The second feature will be "Mr. District Attorney" in the Carter Case," starring James Ellison and Franklin Pangborn. In this picture it is presumed throughout that the case has already been solved, until in the final sequence, when in a stunning surprise the real murderer is revealed.

'MORTAL STORM' OPENS AT YORK
The longest continuous "traveling shot" ever filmed is on view in "The Mortal Storm," showing at the York Theatre for an engagement of three days.

The sequence, which depicts a concentration camp, took 20 minutes of continuous photography to record and consumed 2,000 feet of film. The camera was mounted on a track which completely surrounded the "camp" set and, because a motorized unit would have proven too noisy, it was pushed by a crew of 10 men.

"The Mortal Storm," based on the thrilling novel by Phyllis Bottome, features a cast headed by Margaret Sullivan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan. The picture was directed by Frank Borzage, with the supporting cast featuring Robert Stack, Bonita Granville, Irene Rich, William T. Orr, Maria Ouspenskaya and Gene Reynolds.

Shipyard Stoppage Hits Production

VANCOUVER (CP) — A shipyard management spokesman today charged that a work stoppage by 1,000 machinists and blacksmiths now in its third day, already has crippled and soon may paralyze production in three Vancouver shipyards.

At the same time members of the two unions offered in a telegram to Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell to return to their jobs at noon today under their old agreements, which allowed them to take week-ends off.

The men are protesting Mr. Mitchell's order that they conform to the seven-day, continuous production week under which they take their days off under a staggered system.

Their telegram to Mr. Mitchell said "our understanding is that the old agreement remains unaffected until such time as our (union conference) delegation completes negotiations with you," and asked for an immediate reply.

The delegation from the Joint Union Conference to meet Mr. Mitchell left here yesterday and was expected to confer with federal officials tomorrow.

The men have stopped work at the Burrard Drydock Company's north and south shore yards and at the North Van Ship Repairs yard.

A shipyard operator said 80 per cent of the "outfitting" of new ships had been blocked by the machinists' work stoppage.

Dorothy Dix:

Juvenile Delinquency Rises As Mothers Serve U.S.

According to the church welfare workers and probation officers the chief victims of this war are the children whose mothers are so busy saving the country that they have no time to protect their own boys and girls. They report that juvenile delinquency among the boys of this country has increased 22 per cent during the last year and among girls 8 per cent. And the officers of the Volunteers of America assert that in all their long history never before have they had such a multitude of young girls, many of them children themselves, besieging their doors, asking for shelter in which to hide themselves and bear their fatherless children.

A clergyman, who is a director of a church federation welfare bureau, said that there are many cases of children being locked in cars, or trailers, or houses all day while their parents are at work. In other cases, he declared, they are barred from their homes during the day while their mothers, who work on night shifts, are sleeping. In thousands of other cases they are just turned loose on the street to do as they please and shift for themselves while mother is doing war work.

Now I would not for a moment asperse the motives of these women war workers, or belittle the value of the service they give. Most of them are simply overflowing with patriotism and they feel very noble when they think of how they have sacrificed everything — themselves, their homes and their children to their country — and how tired they get standing for hours and hours in a canteen serving coffee and sandwiches to soldiers, and what back-breaking work driving an ambulance is.

"Why, my dear," they said, "I'm on my job all the time. I'm at home so little the children scarcely know me now. I have forgotten there are such things as bridge and cocktail parties and beauty shops; and as for my hands, well, I hate to think of what my manicurist would say if she saw them."

PRAISED FOR DEFENCE WORK

There is no denying there is need of women's nursing, need of women's tears in war, as the old poem used to say, and it is a fine and splendid and brave thing for the women who have no young children and no domestic responsibilities to give their time and energies to the defence of their country.

They do fill an important part in the war economy. Many a hungry rookie will remember to his dying day the good hot meals some women's auxiliary fed him. Many a homesick young draftee goes on his way heartened and comforted by a little sympathetic talk with a grey-haired woman who looked like his mother. Thousands of men have the curse of boredom taken off their stay in camp by the dances and amusements that women arrange for them.

In unnumbered factories millions of women are doing men's work and releasing men for fighting. No other factor is more important in keeping up the morale of an army than the enthusiasm and the burning patriotism that women pour into it. They wave the flags that make men fight on to victory.

KEEP HOME FIRES BURNING

But when women have young children the fighting line for them is not on the front, but in the rear, and they best serve their country when they keep the home fires burning. A bungalow apron is not as nifty a costume as a gold-braided khaki uniform, but the woman who wears that, and who has kept her family together during all this upset wild wartime; who has disciplined her youngsters and watched over them and kept them safe, has done as patriotic a job and is of more value to Uncle Sam than if she had piloted a flying fortress, or broken a riveting record.

For what is the use of saving a country if we have not saved our children first? Why should we fight and die for our country if we are going to turn it over to hoodlums and wastrels, as we will do if we let our youngsters run wild in their formative years? Our future lies in the hands of the mothers of our land. In the end they must save us, if we are saved.

I leave this thought with the women who apologize for not being on more war committees. Their battle is at home. Their fight is with their own children. And if they rear fine sons and daughters they have given their country the best gift they can offer.

If they fail — well, not all the plaudits in the world will compensate them for knowing that if they had stayed at home and watched over John he might not have gotten in with that criminal gang, and if they had taken care of Mamie when she was so young and ignorant she might not have been one of those girls who are creeping in the night to the doors of the Volunteers of America.

Jamaica and Puerto Rico Famed for Ginger

"Do you have enough ginger today?" or "Do you feel full of ginger?"

We may not hear those questions very often, but they are asked now and then by some persons. They are not about a real thing, but about an idea. The questions might just as well be "Do you feel 'peppy' today?" or "Do you feel full of life and spirit?"

If a person were actually "full of ginger," he would not be comfortable, to say the least. Ginger is a substance which may be very good in small amounts, but if a person ate several pounds of it as a meal his stomach would get out of order, and might not get back.

Above: A growing ginger plant with its curious roots. Below: Ginger roots being spread out in the sun to dry on a mat made of reeds.

Ginger plants grow in the East Indies. Those islands, including Java and Sumatra, are native homes of the plants.

From the East Indies, ginger plants have been taken to the New World, also to Africa. They grow well where the weather is warm through the year, and where there is plenty of rain.

Some parts of South America produce ginger, but the islands of Jamaica and Puerto Rico are best known for their high-grade exports.

Leaves of the common ginger plant are long and narrow, sometimes having a length of a foot and a width of an inch. Blue and yellow flowers grow in clusters from the stems.

The stems of the plant reach down to the "rootstock." The rootstock grows out sideways under the soil, instead of downward. It is the rootstock which gives us the ginger.

Ginger is sold in the form of powdered spice, and many housewives use it to season certain foods. A much greater use, however, is for drinks.

Millions of persons drink ginger ale — charged water which has been sweetened and which contains ginger. "Ginger beer," very popular in England, is made in about the same way as ginger ale.

Children may meet ginger for the first time when they are served with "gingerbread," a plain cake flavored with ginger and often made with molasses. Cookies known as "ginger snaps" also have ginger in them.

Hundreds of years ago, long before the time of Columbus, people in Europe ate gingerbread. A spice trade was carried on with

Referring to the reverse in Libya and the shipping situation in his presidential address at the York diocesan conference, he said the government should take the people into its confidence.

"It is irritating and humiliating when the enemy tells us on the wireless what we are not told officially and more accurately until many hours have passed," he said.

Japs Claim They Plan To Stay on Aleutians

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts, AP)—A communique reporting Japanese naval and military forces in the Aleutian Islands had occupied Kiska June 7 and Attu a day later claimed today "they are at present consolidating their positions in neighboring islands."

The announcement, made by Imperial headquarters, said Kiska henceforth would be known as Narukami and Attu as Atsuta.

Domei said Narukami was derived from Narukamizuni or thunder month, one of the Japanese names for June.

Attu was renamed after the Atsuta Shrine at Nagoya, site of June feasts. (Nagoya, a major Pacific port, was one of four cities attacked by United States bombers in the raid April 18.)

A dispatch written by Makoto Saito, who is attached to the Japanese marine corps, said the weather on the voyage north was so bitterly cold ship sentries had to be relieved every two hours.

Crews and equipment were selected carefully and quantities of seeds and potatoes were transported to the Aleutians for planting, he reported, saying "this alone reveals that our action was not meant to be merely temporary."

JAPANESE VERSION

Tokyo newspapers today published the first pictures of Japanese landings on the sparsely populated Aleutian island outposts and printed with them the first detailed Japanese version of the attack, written by a Domei naval correspondent.

The occupied island was acknowledged to be only "a barren outpost of four barracks-line buildings."

One picture showed a Japanese naval party scanning the scene of their landings in preparations for what was called "the next offensive," while in another the Japanese soldiers were shown advancing across the Aleutian tundra.

QUESTIONED BY JAPS

Here, in part, is the naval correspondent's version of the action as broadcast by the Tokyo radio:

"Questioning revealed that the two men with eight others had been transferred to this island in December of last year.

"Asked if they thought that American troops would ever be sent to retake the island, they declared rather bitterly 'Hell, no.'"

"When the landing party assembled at the newly-improvised shrine only six hours after first setting foot on the island it was learned that the sounds of machine-gun fire earlier had been Japanese guns fired into the air in an attempt to get a rise out of the enemy.

"The party had come on a group of four buildings ablaze with light and had opened up with light machine guns to draw the enemy's fire.

"However, no response coming, they entered the house. The American soldiers stationed there promptly fled. Half-drunk cups of coffee still hot mutely testified to their hurried exit."

"Even before anchors were overside, building materials making the place liveable and anti-aircraft batteries were being unlimbered. Almost overnight a barren outpost of four barracks-like buildings took on an aspect of thriving life. Buildings were being constructed, roads laid out, anti-aircraft batteries set up for the expected visit from Dutch Harbor, United States naval base in Alaska."

APPEAL DRAFT OF PM EDITOR

NEW YORK (AP)—An appeal by Marshall Field, publisher of the newspaper PM, has postponed for at least two weeks the army induction of the paper's 41-year-old editor, Ralph Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, who appeared at his local draft board Wednesday to leave with others for a final physical examination at Fort Jay, Governors Island, said he was unaware of the appeal.

Walter Mallory, local draft board chairman, said Field had telegraphed the local board and selective service headquarters in Washington late Tuesday describing the editor as "indispensable" to the management of PM and as setting Ingersoll was more valuable to the United States war effort as a newspaper editor than as a soldier.

In an explanation of his action, Field said in Chicago: "Here is a case where one must consider whether a newspaper is valuable in wartime. If it is, then Mr. Ingersoll is very valuable indeed to PM because it is a personalized paper and his leadership is very badly needed in its publication."

Declaring he presumed he would be called before the appeal board to explain further his reasons for appealing in behalf of Ingersoll, Field said he believed the editor's draft status "should go further than the local draft board, but whatever the result of the appeal, it will, of course, be accepted."

Victoria Grocers Name Officers

A meeting to which all Victoria grocers were invited was addressed by Wm. Allison of Vancouver, secretary-manager of the Consolidated Grocers and a member of the provincial executive of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. Allison reported on the recent Ottawa conference of retailers, which was attended by representatives from every province in Canada and representatives of chain, department and independent merchants.

Mr. Allison referred to the regulations the association had been instrumental in securing by which the wholesale ceiling price of canned goods had been altered from that of the basic period of June, thus permitting the grocer to maintain the price at which he sold at retail during the basic period. He also referred to the tea situation and of the serious position of retail grocers generally in having had to absorb the loss, which finally was modified when the maximum price of 85 cents was secured on the standard brands.

George R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, urged retailers to make attractive displays in their windows, keep their names before the public in the press by correctly representing the values at which their commodities were being sold, so that the public would have full confidence not only in their purchases now, but in the good will which would be established by the firm so advertising.

He referred to the recent order which had been passed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, prohibiting groups of consumers from banding together to make purchases of Christmas turkeys direct from the wholesaler. Such sales in future had to go through retail channels.

The new executive of the Victoria Grocers' Division of the Retail Merchants' Association was elected with power to set up the various necessary committees. G. Emory, Van's Groceries, was unanimously chosen chairman of the executive. A representative of the United Purity Stores is to be elected at the first meeting of their executive, other members being E. B. Jones, Jones Grocery, representing the Community Stores, L. Larcomb, Queens Ave. Grocery, and S. Hinds, Kirkham's, Ltd.

Russian Guerrillas Throw Dice, Raid

LONDON (CP)—Leslie Kirch has arrived back in London from Russia, where he served with a medical unit, and tells of farm folk who threw dice for the privilege of joining in guerrilla raids on the Germans.

Armed with farm axes and clubs, the three winners crawled through German lines, killed six German sentries, and returned with guns and ammunition strapped to their bodies with horse harness. Thus they provided arms and ammunition for the others of this farm establishment to make even more widespread raids, and while Kirch was there they killed 18 Nazis and brought home 17 prisoners.

Prices of Beef To Be Reduced

Maximum wholesale prices of beef will be reduced one cent a pound July 13, and retailers will adjust their prices accordingly, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced today.

To provide for the normal seasonal decline in wholesale beef prices from June to November, a second reduction of one cent a pound will become effective Aug. 3, a third one-cent-a-pound decrease Aug. 24 and a further decrease of half a cent a pound Sept. 14. Thus, at Sept. 14 maximum wholesale prices will be 3½ cents a pound below the June figure.

Seasonal increases will be permitted from Nov. 1942, to June, 1943.

AFFECT ALL CANADA

Prices adjustments are uniform throughout Canada for all grades of beef carcasses, sides and quarters.

The new order, which will be issued shortly, also empowers Foods Administrator J. G. Taggart to fix maximum wholesale prices for 28 different cuts of beef. A schedule of these prices, in appropriate relationship to the maximum price for a whole carcass, will be made public soon.

"It is also expected that specific discounts for beef at lower than first quality will be available within a short time," the board's announcement said. "Under the present order beef of lower quality must be sold at appropriate reductions from the maximum prices of the highest quality. An attempt will be made to specify what reduction is appropriate for certain defined grades of beef."

EXPORT LICENSES

At the same time, the board issued a statement giving further details of the operation of War-time Food Corporation Limited in providing beef cattle for the domestic market. General principles of the government-owned corporation's methods were announced last week by Donald Gordon, chairman of the board.

Under the new setup, designed to relieve beef shortages reported from many Canadian centres because of increased domestic demand and a strong export movement, exporters of beef cattle must obtain a license from the corporation, "giving such information as required."

Authorize Indians To Purchase Wool

Vancouver Island sheep herders can sell their wool to Indians, it is ruled by the Canadian Wool Board.

Unaware of this fact many of the herders have been preparing to ship their wool away and island Indians who depend for a livelihood on the manufacture of sweaters were faced with a serious situation as a result.

The matter was brought to a head when an inquiry was made to the Indian Affairs branch of the Department of Mines and Resources and brought a reply that manufacture of sweaters by Indians was classified as "home spinning and carding," a purpose for which the Wool Board allows wool to be sold privately.

Since Indians buy ungraded wool, sheep herders get a slightly better price from the Indians than from the Wool Board.

R.C.M.P. Makes Appeal For Constables

OTTAWA (CP)—An appeal to the "citizens of Canada generally" to volunteer as special constables in the R.C.M.P. has been issued by Commissioner S. T. Wood.

At the same time he disclosed in a statement that a recent order-in-council authorizing Hon. J. T. Thorson, Minister of War Services, to call men in lower medical brackets for special security guard duty will not be implemented "for the time being."

"Rather than implement this order-in-council by compulsory service, the government has decided . . . to give those men who have in the past and may in the future wish to volunteer for service, an opportunity to do so," the commissioner said.

Special constables will receive the rates of pay and allowances in effect in the Canadian (Active) Army.

Urges Canada Cancel Hereditary Titles

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House leader, urged the House of Commons Wednesday to consider a move to cancel all hereditary titles held by Canadians domiciled in Canada.

He said it should not be possible to pass on titles "which are now meaningless in this country."

Mr. Coldwell made his suggestion when the House was considering State Secretary McLarty's resolution calling for the setting up of a House committee to inquire into expediency of altering the attitude of the government and Parliament toward honors and awards.

In 1919 the House adopted a report recommending against award of titles to Canadians. The House approved a motion to have the resolution referred to a special committee for consideration.

Sadist Murderer Hanged in London

LONDON (CP)—Gordon Frederick Cummins, 28-year-old R.A.F. cadet stigmatized as the most notorious killer since Jack the Ripper, was hanged today in Wandsworth Prison for the slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Oatley, 32, one-time actress.

Mrs. Oatley was one of four women Cummins was accused of killing in a series of blackout murders which terrorized London's West End last winter.

Two attempted slayings also were charged against the young airman, whose bland appearance and polished manner won him the nickname of "The Duke."

The jury before which Cummins was tried for the murder of Mrs. Oatley required only 35 minutes to convict him. Mr. Justice Sir Cyril Asquith, who passed sentence of death, described the crime as "a sadistic sexual murder of a ghoulish type."

Cummins stoutly maintained his innocence during the trial, at which police introduced evidence to show that his fingerprints were found on a mirror and a bloody can opener in the apartment where the mutilated body of Mrs. Oatley was found.

GAS MASK CLUE

The airman was first connected with the blackout murders when a gas mask belonging to him was found near a doorway in Piccadilly where an unidentified man had seized Mrs. Greta Hayward and attempted to strangle her.

Prior to the discovery of this clue Scotland Yard had been baffled by the series of murders which strangely paralleled the crimes committed by the notorious "Jack the Ripper" in 1888, when eight women were mysteriously slain in the East End.

Cummins, whose alleged crimes so terrified the West End that women were afraid to venture forth at night-unattended, was highly recommended by his R.A.F. superiors as "a very intelligent type" when put up for promotion.

Women he was accused of slaying, in addition to Mrs. Oatley, were Mrs. Margaret Low, 43; Mrs. Doris Jauanett, 32; and Miss Evelyn Hamilton, 40.

Constant warfare must be waged against insects which attack the vast quantities of foods stored to feed a modern army.

Need Laxative Help?

Try this mild aid to regularity

Lemon in water... with or without soda

Many people on the border-line of "regularity," as well as those who once used unnecessarily strong laxatives, now find ample help in this simple, daily aid.

First or last thing daily, do this: Into a tall glass half full of water, put ¼ to ½ teaspoon of baking soda (bicarbonate). Slowly add juice of one Sunkist Lemon. Drink as foaming quips.

Or you may find you prefer only the lemon juice in a full glass of water.

Try it ten days. See if you don't benefit when you make it your "regular" rule.
